John Takes Advice...He Leaves Martha

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Martha Mitchell, describing in detail the erosion of her marriage, said Sunday night her husband, John, left her four days ago on advice of his lawyers. She said she will see her lawyer today.

But in early evening phone calls to United Press International, Mrs. Mitchell called the possibility of separation "horrible."

She denied reports in Newsweek magazine that she and her husband, President Nixon's former attorney general and campaign manager, engaged in "violent outbursts" after previous telephone calls to the news media and that he had tried to hospitalize her for psychiatric care.

Mrs. Mitchell said, "I never had a fight with him." Speaking to UPI's Helen Thomas, she called the Newsweek report "a goddamned lie."

Newsweek quoted an "intimate friend" of the family as reporting John saying, "You'd think the media would understand and leave Martha alone. It's obvious to anyone who knows her that she's a sick woman."

"Friends say Mitchell feels his wife needs medical help," Newsweek said, "but add that he cannot bring himself to the necessary legal steps to have her committed."

Mrs. Mitchell said, "He walked out, yes. But I've been trying to get him out," she said. "If you've got a man 24 hours a day, I couldn't stand it. He was watching the football games."

She said the marriage was strained because of Mitchell's indictment on charges of perjury and obstruction of justice for allegedly influencing the Securities and Exchange Commission to drop an investigation of Nixon campaign contributor Robert L. Vesco.

He is also under investigation by the Senate Watergate Committee and various grand juries for his role in allegations of campaign sabotage.

Mrs. Mitchell said it was her husband, not her, who was distraught. "Whenever anyone came into our apartment, he was so kind to them. When they left, he got mean with me and Marty," her 12-year-old daughter.

"My God, I've done everything for him that I could," she said. "I've been through hell. I've been the best wife you've seen in your life, but I can't forget what I went through in California."

She was referring to an incident in June, 1972, when she claimed she was being held a "political prisoner" at Newport Beach, Calif., and was manhandled by bodyguards.

For the first time, Sunday, she blamed her husband for that incident.

"How could you respect a man who has done to me what was done in California."

IBM Will Pay $352.5 Million; Telex Also Fined

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—International Business Machines Corp. was found guilty of monopolistic business practices in the computer industry today and was ordered to pay the Telex Corp. $352.5 million in damages.

Telex, a Tulsa-based firm, in return was ordered to pay IBM $21.9 million in damages for stealing IBM trade secrets.

IBM was ordered to begin a series of actions to break up the huge firm's hold on the computer assessory market, actions which Telex had sought.

The opinion was released by U.S. District Court Judge A. Sherman Christensen of Salt Lake City, who heard arguments in the case for nearly two months earlier this year.

IBM and Telex have been feuding over competition in the electronic data processing industry for years.

Telex first sought $1.2 billion in damages in a suit charging IBM with monopolistic practices. IBM countered in a suit accusing the Tulsa-based Telex firm of stealing trade secrets by hiring former IBM engineers.

The opinion from Christensen was mailed from his office at Salt Lake City to the Tulsa federal court where a two-month trial was held earlier this year.

In its suit, Telex claimed IBM used "predatory" marketing actions to create a monopoly in a portion of the market. It said IBM reduced the price on one accessory model to force competitors to cut their prices.

IBM denied it was monopolistic, contending its share of the market in question has declined annually in an industry that has swelled to 1,800 manufacturers of computer components.

In its countersuit, IBM claimed top officials of Telex plotted to obtain IBM's confidential information. Telex denied it stole any IBM secrets.

Beef Prices Stable

(Combined Wire Services)

Consumers kept a wary eye on the supermarket cash register today as the experts tried to figure out what would happen to beef prices that were freed from controls a week ago.

Farmers, processors and retailers generally agreed that beef prices would settle down at a level determined by the law of supply and demand.

"The way things look now, the cost of food in the last three months of this year might even be less than in July through September," said Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz in an interview published in U.S. News & World Report.

"In the last month, we've had substantial drops in farm prices of cattle and hogs and corn and soybeans and wheat," he said. "At the same time, shoppers in the supermarket are finding the price of many foods — especially meat and chicken and eggs — is down moderately."

Meanwhile, two of President Nixon's top officials have cautiously predicted an easing of food prices.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said in a copyrighted article in the magazine U.S. News and World Report, published Sunday, that "the worst is over" in the upward spiral of food prices.

"As a matter of fact," Butz said, "the way things look now, the cost of food in the last three months of this year might even be less than that in July through September."

He said there have been substantial drops during the last month in farm prices of cattle, hogs, corn, soybeans and wheat.

"At the same time," Butz said, "shoppers in the supermarkets are finding the price of many foods, especially meat and chicken and eggs, is down moderately. I think the worst is over."

He said, however, that "our track record in forecasting food prices the past year has not been a very good one."

Roy L. Ash, President Nixon's budget director, said Sunday (on NBC's "Meet the Press"), "We would hope that with the substantial increase of production this year over last year there will be, certainly a slackening of increase of food prices, and maybe even some reduction."

Looking farther ahead, Butz said he foresees "a stable or very modestly rising food price index in 1974." He discounted what he called "loose talk" that exports of food will result in food shortages in the United States. "This is very irresponsible talk," he said. "It's as phony as a $3 bill."

Swedish Democrats in Lead

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Sweden's Social Democrats appeared today to have retained control of the government after 41 years in power but with a majority of only two votes in the new parliament.

With only 53,600 mail ballots still to be counted from Sunday's general election, observers considered it doubtful that the non-Socialist opposition parties could overtake the Socialist bloc of Social Democrats and Communists.

Official returns from all 357 counties gave the Social Democrats and Communists 176 seats to 174 for the three opposition parties.

The voting was overshadowed by the death Saturday night of 90-year-old King Gustaf VI Adolf and the automatic accession of his 27-year-old bachelor grandson, who became King Carl XVI Gustaf.

The king will be buried Sept. 25 at Haga Castle and court mourning will continue for six weeks.

Gustaf Adlof died at Helsingborg, in southern Sweden, where the royal family spends its summers. He had been operated on Aug. 21 for stomach ulcers, and his three-week fight for life amazed his doctors.

The new king was greeted on his return to Stockholm Sunday by a cheering crowd of 10,000 massed outside the royal palace.

"We want to see our king," the crowd chanted, until Carl Gustaf waved to them from a window.

Carl Gustaf will enjoy the powers of his grandfather, nominal though they were, for only a few months. A new constitution that will be approved formally by parliament next spring reduces his role to that of "symbol of the nation." Under the 164-year-old constitution that is being scrapped the king presided at cabinet meetings, ordered new cabinets formed after elections and read to parliament the annual speech to the throne written by the government to outline its program.

Housing Shortage Seen Here

POUGHKEEPSIE

The future for local communities will be a mushrooming growth of trailer parks and mobile home sites, more slum areas in and out of cities, and a slackened pace in the area's economy if the housing needs of low and moderate income families are not met, according to a four-county study by Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress.

The counties Pattern surveyed were Ulster, Dutchess, Putnam and Sullivan.

Pattern officils urge steps be taken to provide safe, decent living quarters for sales clerks, postal workers, the elderly and others whose income may be less than $9,000 annually. This is the cut-off point used to define those in the low to moderate income category.

Among the four counties surveyed, Ulster had the highest percentage of low to moderate income families, 44.2 per cent. It also had a relatively high percentage of deficient housing units.

Population projections indicate a 1980 population of 170,000, and increase of 28,759 over 1970. Most of the growth is expected to continue in and around the core areas of Ulster, Saugerties, and New Paltz, but significant increases are also foreseen in the southern and southeastern towns of the county.

In Ulster County, an anticipated 4,474 new units will be needed by 1980 to house low to moderate income families. Furthermore, an estimated 7,899 units should be upgraded or replaced.

According to Pattern, the job of providing the required 35,939 new and replacement units the area needs is more than private industry alone can tackle. The revised housing program which President Nixon is to unveil this month may provide incentives for easing what Pattern sees as a regional "housing crisis."

Unless the housing shortage is alleviated, Pattern predicts the Mid-Hudson region will suffer socially, physically and economically in the following ways:

—Overcrowding in the central cities will get worse. The number of substandard and obsolete residences will mount, creating more slum areas.

— An ever increasing number of trailer parks will sprout up. Most will be in remote areas, often without utilities or services, where they may degenerate into rural slums.

— Future industrial development will be hampered because of an insufficient labor supply, resulting in a lowering of the job growth rates.

Consumer Night Panel Named

STONE RIDGE

Five timely and interesting subjects, expounded upon by expert speakers, have been announced for the first annual Consumer Information Night, to be held Wednesday in the auditorium of the Ulster County Community College, beginning at 8 p.m.

The purpose of the event, according to Mrs. Louise Breitung, head of the Chamber of Commerce of Ulster County's consumer services committee, and a home economist with the Ulster County Cooperative Extension Service, is "to create a line of communication between the businessman and the consumer."

The event is being sponsored by the Chamber's consumer services committee and is open to the public at no charge and no reservations will be necessary.

The program will be built around 15-minute addresses by a panel of five speakers, moderated by WKNY News Director Ward Todd.

The speakers and their topics, as announced by Mrs. Breitung, are: Howard Mills, retailing professor at UCCC, on Warranties; Paul S. Wiser, of the IBM Credit Union, on Credit and the Truth-in-Lending Law; Kingston Attorney Harry Gold, on Contracts; Ulster County District Attorney Francis J. Vogt, on Fraud and what his office is doing about it; and Virginia C. Ellis, president of the Credit Bureau of Kingston, on Credit Ratings.

Orvil Norman, of the Kingston Garden Center, will deliver a summation of the speakers' talks at the close of the panel discussion.

Chamber President David H. Rylance will deliver the program's introduction.

Mrs. Breitung noted that the speakers are all local experts, familiar and concerned with local problems and interests.

She felt that all the topics were "pertinent to the times" and in many cases would be dealing with recent changes in the law which affect all consumers.

Those attending the program will be asked to suggest topics to be covered in future Consumer Information Nights, Mrs. Breitung said.

The members of the Chamber's consumer services committee are: Mrs. Breitung; Mrs. Ellis, Norman Wiser; Ronald Every, Bankers Trust; Richard Mathews, Colonial City Carpet; Mrs. Julia Palmer, Hudson Valley Federal Savings & Loan; Charles Schaller, Schaller's Automotive.

Stedge Hits Election Board

TOWN OF ULSTER "What are the Republicans afraid of?" Robert Stedge Independent candidate for supervisor of the Town of Ulster asked today, commenting on the recently announced decision of the Board of Elections to appeal a Supreme Court decision which allowed both Stedge and County Legislator Douglas V. Dye (R-Dist. 2) to remain on the ballot in November as Independent candidates.

In a press release issued today, Stedge said his first thought was "that the taxpayers are paying an attorney to prevent the people from making a decision on a matter which they feel they have a right to decide. It doesn't make sense. Why? If they win, what do they prove —that they are powerful enough on the basis of a minor technicality to prevent the people from offering an alternative to the party designated candidates? Are they trying desperately to justify what they know to be a cheap political maneuver?"

Stedge said that the series of events also raises some other interesting questions. "The County Legislature apparently did not approve this appeal," he said. "Neither the Board of Elections nor the county attorney would proceed on their own. Are the taxpayers paying the county attorney to represent the Republican Central Committee? Why would this group go to all this trouble?" he asked.

"What are they afraid of? Is there something going on in the Town of Ulster that they don't want people to know of?"

"We know it's been an expensive, inefficient, and inept administration. The amount of taxes raised for the Highway Department has more than doubled in the last four years and almost tripled since 1965. The salaries of the employes haven't doubled in four years, nor has the cost of materials, and certainly there hasn't been any improvement in the general condition of the roads in the last four years," Stedge claimed.

The amount raised by taxes for the town's general fund has more than tripled in the last four years with the expense of the supervisor's office almost doubling. No one seems to have noticed any corresponding increase in services," commented Stedge. "There is also the item of $5 million in addition to the Federal and State contributions, to be raised by the taxpayers for a sewer district, and now there is talk of additional money being needed.

"I have been a Republican all my life and am proud of it. However, when the party is put before the interest of the people, and when party unity means my party right or wrong, I draw the line.

Around the World... On a Bike

HOUSTON (UPI) — Around the world in 93 minutes—on a bicycle. Alan L. Bean has done it.

Bean and his Skylab 2 crewmaters Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma have set several world records during their historic mission, but most of them did not require tremendous physical stamina.

Bean, the 41-year-old moonwalking veteran, pedalled a stationary exercise bicycle for 93 minutes—one complete orbit of the Earth—Sunday but said it was somewhat "hard to do without wheels." His pedalling produced enough electrical energy to power a 100-watt light bulb for a trip around the globe.

"I wanted to ride it once around the world just to do it," Bean said.

His crewmaters were not that impressed.

"Jack and I were thinking of waiting until later in the week and taking one second off his record," Garriott told Mission Control.

The pilots had one unhappy note on their 51st day in orbit when they discovered the death of space spider Anita, a tiny animal which stole the spotlight several times by spinning webs without gravity's help.

"We just completed the memorial services," reported Garriott, a scientist-astronaut who shared his filet mignon with Anita and her companion Arabella to try to keep them alive for the return to Earth Sept. 25. "I think it was because of inadequate food."

The spiders were fed a housefly before launch July 28 and the Space Agency had not planned for the spiders to live until splashdown. A wave of interest changed those plans and the spiders were fed rare steak, the closest thing to a spider's normal menu. Garriott said he didn't think Anita had eaten any of the housefly sized bites of meat he gave her, but Arabella was fine. Arabella will be brought back for studies to see how she readapts to gravity. Anita will also be returned.

Flight director Neil Hutchinson said Arabella will not be put back in the glass cage for any more web spinning during the flight, but will be fed again to "prevent her from befalling the same fate whatever that might be."

City Heart Drive... $8,000 Collected

Ira Hadsel, a Kingston patrolman and Fred Crantz, an employe of International Business Machines Corp. of Kingston, emerged as the most valuable players on the Mid-Hudson Heart Association campaign team this year.

Hadsel and Crantz, co-chairmen for the city of Kingston, supervised the collection of more than $8,000 for the second consecutive year. It was reported earlier in the week they had headed the drive with a $3,500 collection.

Francis Kugelman Jr., a member of the board of directors of the MHHA, who reported on the correct total of the Hadsel-Cranz team, also cited other leaders who had a hand in the record $90,000 collected this year.

Runners-up were Ken Mitchell, Wawarsing Town Chairman with a grand total of $3,509; Wilson Edmunds, Saugerties, $3,474; Joe Owens, New Paltz, $2,194; Tom DiMicco, Hurley, $1,780; Kenneth Smith, Marbletown, $1,546; Mrs. Fred Libbos, Esopus, $1,443, and Co-Chairmen Annette Staff and Mrs. Alexander Lewis of Shawangunk, with a total of $1,352.

Towns with the highest percentage increase were Hurley — 51.8 per cent; Gardiner, under Rose Marie Williams, 36.3 per cent, Rochester with Mrs. Charles Ludlow and Mrs. Donald Lee, 32 per cent and Wawarsing with 27.5 per cent.

"Many of our volunteers have been collecting for Heart for more than a decade," Kugelman said and have brought hundreds of thousands of dollars to work for their neighbor's health. We all owe them and their fellow workers our gratitude and best wishes."

The 90-day dollar-fattening diet

If you have $1,000 or more that you're not going to be using in the next 90 days — we can fatten it up for you at 5-3/4% guaranteed annual interest.

That's more than it's earning now if you have it in a regular savings account or a checking account. So if you can spare it for just that short time, why not take advantage of this higher yield?

You have the option to renew—or transfer to a different term plan—when your account matures.

This way, you don't have to worry about tying up your funds for a long period of time.

But if you know right now that you won't need at least $1,000 of your savings for an even longer time, consider the variety of high-yielding Heritage term accounts available to you:

TERM	EFFECTIVE ANNUAL YIELD	GUARANTEED ANNUAL INTEREST
90 days — 1 year	6%	5-3/4%
1 — 2-1/2 years	6.81%	6-1/2%
2-1/2 — 4 years	7.08%	6-3/4%

Federal law permits premature withdrawals on term accounts provided rate of interest on amount withdrawn is reduced to the passbook rate (5-1/4%) and 90 days' interest is forfeited.

Support for Police Chief in New Paltz

POLICE CHIEF HAROLD BOWERS

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ — New Paltz Village Police Chief Harld T. Bowers is the surprised recipient of a petition circulating campaign being carried on by a young New Paltz woman who says the village "finally got a good man" as police chief, and he should be supported.

Cynthia Luedeke is the woman circulating the petitions. She is no stranger to police business. Her husband is William Luedeke, a Town of New Paltz policeman, and her father is New Paltz Town Justice Rexford Schneider.

According to the petition, Bowers is contantly being overruled by the village board in his police command decisions, and is "being stabbed in the back by his so-called superiors."

Mrs. Luedeke said she began circulating the petitions Wednesday, and by Thursday afternoon had gathered about 150 signatures.

According to Mrs. Luedeke, Bowers has been overruled by the village board in his attempts to get Patrolmen Richard Thompson and Dennis Tasker off the village force. Thompson was recently brought up on departmental charges by Bowers before the full village board. Thompson received a 20-day suspension.

Bowers, contacted Thursday afternoon, conceded that there had been "some difficulty recently" with officers on his force going directly to the village's police committee without going through him.

Bowers also said the board did overrule him on Thompson. Bowers wanted him off the force, and instead the village board gave Thompson, who once served as officer-in-charge of the village force duirng the long search for a new chief the village conducted before settling on Bowers, the 20-day suspension.

He said Tasker had not been brought up on any departmental chargees, though he had received "punishment posts" for department infractions.

The chief said he was "sort of dumfounded" to find petitions were being circulated in his support. When told of the reported 150 signatures gathered in a day on the petitions, he said it was "rewarding to find that that many people like me."

Bowers said his position as a police officer forbade him from commenting on the petition circulating directly. "I guess it's really none of my business," he said.

Mrs. Luedeke said he understood that Bowers was about ready to resign in protest over the situation in his department. Bowers refused to comment on his future plans Thursday.

Village Trustee John Logan is the head of the village board's police committee. He said Thursday he had "no comment whatsoever" on the petitions.

'Mini-Math' Courses Set at Ulster College

STONE RIDGE — To aid students and community residents interested in improving themselves, a group of mini-math courses is being offered this fall by the Mathematics Department at Ulster County Community College. These courses are also appropriate for studetns who have been away from math for some time.

A short course in Basic Arithmetic will begin on Monday, Sept. 17 and run for five weeks on Mondays and Wednesdays from 3:05 to 4:20 p.m. It is designed for those needing a review of basic mathematical and computational skills.

A short course in Statistics will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 12:15 to 1:30 p.m., starting Sept. 18, and lasts five weeks. It is designed to provide an understanding of some of the more important aspects of statistics and there will be exposure to some of the more practical statistical terminology, notation and calculations.

A short course in Trigonometry will be offered for five weeks on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 3:05 to 4:20 p.m. starting Oct. 2. It is intended to serve primarily as a refresher in the treatment of trigonometry.

A short course in Probability will start the week of Oct. 22, with the time and days to be announced later. It will be an introduction to some of the more important aspects of probability, including a brief exposure to the algebra of sets, sample spaces, events, the probability of an event and its properties.

A short course in Desk-Top Computers will be offered evenings starting on Sept. 18. The class will meet five Tuesdays and five Thursdays from 7-8:15 p.m., and will introduce the self-contained small computer. No prior knowledge of computers or calculators is needed, but some algebra and trigonometry will be used in the course.

Further information about these courses can be obtained by calling the Mathematics Department at the College.

Astor Home in Rhinebeck Sets Children's Conference

RINEBECK — The Astor Home for Children, having completed its 20th year of residential treatment for emotionally disturbed children, will hold its 19th annual conference Tuesday, Sept. 18, under the joint auspices of the Astor Home and The Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of New York.

This year's theme — Helping Children Then and Now: A Look at the Past 20 Years — will review the developments in child treatment and welfare over the years, using insights gained from the past to predict the future.

In past years, as many as 600 professionals in the fields of mental Health, social welfare, and special services in the northeastern United States have attended these conferences.

In the morning program, Dr. Maurice Laufer, director of the Emma Pendleton Bradley Hospital in Riverside, R.I., and professor of psychiatry at Brown University, will speak about his experience in residential treatment over the past 25 years. Dr. Murray Levine, director of clinical community program in psychology at the State University of New York at Buffalo, will base his comments upon his recently published book A Social History of Helping Services: Clinic, Court, School and Community.

The afternoon program will be devoted to a presentation of the 20-year Follow-Up Study now being conducted on former Astor Home children.

SHANDAKEN — Seven members were appointed to the Town of Shandaken's first Zoning Board of Appeals at the monthly meeting of the town board.

The newly created Zoning Board of Appeals will enforce the town s interim zoning ordinance.

The new members are: Michael Bobick of Mt. Tremper, five year term; Robert Maroney and Eleis Miller of Phoenicia, four year terms; Lonnie Gale of Phoenicia, three year term; Mel Allen and J. Bramen of Shandaken, two year terms and Seymour Sachs of Pine Hill, one year term.

The town board also authorized the Planning Board to begin establishing boundaries for a permanent zoning ordinance that can be utilized by the newly created ZBA.

In other action, the town board accepted a $7,000 bid from Syracuse Truck Sales for the purchase of a new snow plow truck; agreed to advertise for bids for expansion of the existing town offices and appointed Richard Merwin as dog enumerator.

Town Justice In Woodstock Seeking Clerk

WOODSTOCK — Woodstock Town Justice Kevin Sweeney is seeking a court clerk. The position pays $2.35 an hour for about eight hours weekly, keeping records for the Justice Court, preparing reports, and handling administrative responsibility.

"The person needs to be conscientious about details and a good typist, and ideally should have experience as a legal or other secretary," Sweeney said. "Age, sex or party affiliation is irrelevant. The important thing is to find the person who will do the best job for the town."

Anyone interested is asked to apply by letter to Sweeney at Box 235, Woodstock 12498.

Forest fire, in that same amount of time, will have ravaged and burned over 200 trees.
Which is about 2 trees for every word you read.
Or by the time you finish this sentence, 118 trees.
And does the damage add up!
In a year's time that's over 420 million trees, over 4 million acres burned, and hundreds of thousands of animals left homeless.
Not to forget the ecological havoc forest fire will have wreaked where it passed.
And it's all such a senseless waste too.
Because with only a little time, most man-caused forest fires could be prevented.
An extra second to grind out a cigaret.
Another minute to pour more water on your fire, scatter the coals, cover it with dirt.

An Inflation Curb

President Nixon wasted no time in following through with his pledge to veto the minimum wage bill and labor has reacted predictably — with scorn, criticism and anger.

But just how fair is this violent reaction?

At his most recent news conference, Mr. Nixon had explained his reasons why he felt the hike in minimum wages would be bad at this time. The nation, he said, is in an inflationary period. To allow the bill to become law would only accentuate the problem, he pointed out.

The President acknowledged a higher minimum wage is needed but he saw the bill passed by Congress as doing more harm than good, feeling it would hurt those who can least afford it.

A bill he said he would support makes eminently more sense. It would increase minimum for most nonfarm workers immediately to $1.90 and to $2.30 over the next three years.

The present floor is $1.60 per hour. Congress sought to raise the level in two steps, to $2 on Nov. 1 and to $2.20 on July 1. The terms of the bill also would have given minimum protection to an additional 7 million workers, bringing the total covered to approximately 61 million.

The argument put forth by the Democratic majorities of both houses and also by labor spokesmen is that the legislation would add only .4 per cent to the nation's total wage bill.

That is true but it is only a partial truth.

What the critics are failing to point out is that this wage increase would be but a beginning of another spiral that would work against all the attempts that Washington is making right now to control inflation.

What, for example, would the worker do who currently is getting paid at the rate of $2.20 per hour? The most logical step for him to take would be to demand a corresponding increase.

Obviously the present rate of $1.60 which amounts to $64 weekly for a 40-hour week is not a living wage. For that matter, neither would the $2.20 hourly rate or $88 weekly be sufficient for a family head. But basically it is not intended to be, as witness the relatively small number in the minimum wage class.

It's a pay that might be offered unskilled beginners on routine jobs designed to supplement earnings of other members of the family.

So when George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, describes the President's action as "callous" and points to increases in rents and other living expenses, he is giving at best a distorted picture. He blasted the President but he failed to say, for example, that his well-paid unions would declare a moratorium on pay hike requests until the inflation had been slowed. That's a positive contribution that labor could make to help the economy. But admittedly it's unrealistic and too much to expect.

Incidentally, it might be pointed out that Mr. Nixon also has deferred scheduled pay hikes for millions of government employes so he can't be accused of discriminating solely against one group of workers.

The President expressed hope that steps already taken to improve the economy such as wage-price controls, tightening up the money supply and making more food supplies available would begin to show some benefits in the next few months.

Meanwhile he has acted in the best interests of the nation—including labor.

PRODIGAL AMERICANS — John A. Love, director of the U. S. Energy Policy Office, has found that "the average American uses as much energy in less than a week as half of the world's population on an individual basis consumes in a year," That is the core of the energy crisis in this country.

RETIREMENT BILL OF RIGHTS— Donald M. Johnson, president of Aetna Life and Casualty, urged Congress to enact "a retirement bill of rights." It would protect workers who lose pensions by changing jobs, or are laid off or lose jobs through business failures.

WALK AROUND THE WORLD — Carey Von Tidwell of Waco, Tex., had to give up the idea of walking around the world, pulling a cart behind him, because the wheels kept coming off. He will start at Zagreb, Yugoslavia, where he left off to catch the bus to Belgrade and the unplanned flight home. His determination is nothing if not Texas-size.

POLLUTERS NOT WANTED—President Nixon signed an executive order denying federal contracts to companies convicted of violating the Clear Air or Water Pollution Control Acts. This is putting the squeeze on polluters.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Fitting Out the Spirit of '76

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — the U.S. Treasury has already subsidized President Nixon's luxurious living at San Clemente and Key Biscayne. Now it is ponying up $1,785,000 to deck out his jet to suit H.R. Haldeman's and Pat Nixon's ideas of posh air comfort.

The White House recently ordered a new jet from Boeing to replace the well-traveled "Spirit of '76" as the President's lead plane. Haldeman personally took charge of the interior decorating and before he had finished, the bill had run up to $1.5 million.

When Pat Nixon found out about the appointments, she hit an air pocket. The former top White House aide, with typical Prussian efficiency, had put the staff quarters between the presidential suite and the quarters for extra family and guests.

This would have permitted top staffers to maintain their 24-hour-a-day access to the President, but the arrangement would have forced family and guests to squirm through the staff quarters to visit the President and First Lady.

After she discovered what Haldeman had done, Mrs. Nixon, who often has laid down the law to her strong-willed husband, insisted that the plane be re-designed to her own liking. As a result, the Air Force, which had faithfully followed the original Haldeman specifications, is now spending another $285,000 to conform to Pat's request that the guest lounge be next to the Nixon quarters.

Footnote: A spokesman for Mrs. Nixon confirmed that Haldeman drew up the original plans but she was unable to say whether any of the Nixons approved them before the first $1.5 million was spent. The new plane, like its predecessor, will be called "The Spirit of '76" the spokesman said. Those who have seen its de luxe comforts say it has little in common with the original spartan Spirit of '76 which George Washington and his troops showed at Valley Forge.

Chilean Machismo: Simple Latin-American machismo, or manhood, may have been a factor in the dramatic overthrow of President Salvador Allende in Chile. The Chilean Army violated a 42-year tradition of keeping out of Chilean politics when it crushed Allende's Marxist government last week.

Long before the coup, American Ambassador Nathaniel Davis cabled the State Department the "discontent and plotting in the military services have been substantially greater . . . "

In his secret dispatch, he also reported: "It has been galling to military and civilians to have men in uniform tear-gassing women. Some officers' own womenfolk were in (the demonstrations) protesting shortages officers themselves have experienced. It is galling to have it implied women are braver than they."

Blood from Babies: As a nutritional experiment, the Agriculture Department was all set to draw blood from the jugular veins of ghetto babies until we started asking questions. Now the dangerous idea has been scrapped.

The department had planned to extract veinous blood from infants to measure its vitamin, iron and protein content. So horrified was the Indian Health Services that it refused to let any babies under its jurisdiction to be used for the experiment.

Although a highly skilled technician might draw blood safely from a baby's veins, there was no assurance Agriculture's project would be manned by such specialists. One bad mistake could traumatize a baby for life.

Following our inquiries, Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz's medical advisors assured us that all infant blood taken for the tests would be from heelpricks, toepricks or fingerpricks. The experiment is part of an otherwise commendable pilot program for feeding the poor.

Honoring Howie: Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., is sponsoring a dinner for one of Washington's most unpopular men, former anti-poverty czar Howard Phillips.

Poor Phillips was hounded from his job by the courts and Congress after he larded his agency with right-wing wreckers and ex-CIA snoops who intimidated employes and all but dismantled the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Curtis, who has opposed most anti-poverty programs, is chairing the dinner this Friday because he feels Phillips should have "some of the recognition and credit he so richly deserves." In a fund solicitation, Curtis declared: "Howie had been asked by the President to dismantle OEO, and he went about the job with a right good will."

"O.K. — I've Told Him What He Can Do with His Oil. Now Get Busy and Dig!"

Inside Report

Nixon's Empty Threat

By ROWLAND EVANS
ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Within minutes of President Nixon's implicit threat that Arab states might lose their Western markets if they use their oil as a political lever, a top administration energy expert moaned: "My God, doesn't he realize that every single incremental barrel of oil today has to come from the Middle East?"

But if Mr. Nixon's threat, a hip-shooting challenge uttered without careful forethought at his press conference last week, surprised his own aides, it stunned the oil states of the Middle East, most particularly Saudi Arabia.

That is the country that sits on top of 24 per cent of the world's total known oil reserves and whose head man, King Faisal, regards both President Nixon and the U.S. as close traditional friends.

The King and his government are right now under heavy pressure from the Nixon administration and U.S. oil companies in Saudi Arabian holdings to authorize a huge increase in Saudi Arabian oil production. Now running at a level of seven million to eight million barrels of oil every day, that production would be raised to 11.3 million barrels by 1976 and to 20 million barrels by 1980, if the King went along with the American request.

But the King is also under heavy and still-rising domestic pressures from the left, both the political and Moslem left, not to play Uncle Sam's game unless the U.S. moves to a truly evenhanded policy in the savage Arab-Israeli dispute. Perhaps even worse for Mr. Nixon and the American consumer of gasoline and heating oil, King Faisal also has no economic need to boost oil production and hence national revenues. Oil revenues should stay at their present levels.

"The Americans tell us that we can't drink our oil but have to sell it," one influential advisor of King Faisal recently said. "My answer is, we can't eat dollars, either."

The Saudi Arabian national budget is running at $6 billion a year today — an incredible 78 per cent higher than only one year ago. Lifting production to the levels that American oilmen — and the Nixon administration — now want would bring in vast new amounts of dollars that King Faisal could not spend.

"Our wealth may keep better in the ground as oil," one advisor to the King told us, "rather than in some bank as cash."

In the face of these economic and political facts, President Nixon's threat that Arab oil states which expropriate American oil property without fair compensation — or which attempt to gouge with high prices — may find themselves without Western markets is dangerous poppycock. To compare today's seething seller's market to the buyer's market of 20 years ago, when Western economic pressures helped drive oil-rich Iran's left-wing Prime Minister Mosaddeq out of power, is misleading.

For, as the Nixon energy expert said, the critical period of oil-and-gasoline shortages lying just ahead can be eased only by additional oil from the Middle East. North Slope Alaskan oil will not be available at best for three to five years. Nor can any crash program to extract oil from shale or coal begin to dent the potentially disastrous period of shortages that lie ahead. Only Middle East oil can do that.

There were, furthermore, other misleading implications in Mr. Nixon's statement last Wednesday. His assumption that Europe and the U.S. have identical problems with respect to Middle Eastern oil ("We and Europe are the market," he said) understates Japan and Europe's total dependence and ignores a vital political fact: that most of the European nations are far less pro-Israel than the U.S.

In short, there is no common Western front on the Middle East. But there is a developing front between fabulously rich Saudi Arabia and politically powerful Egypt. Both are under control of leaders who want closer relations with the U.S. but must see progress toward Israeli withdrawl from Arab lands seized in the 1967 war.

Instead of empty threats against Arab oil, Mr. Nixon might ponder the potential fury of Americans unable to drive or heat their homes.

"Hey, Judge Sirica, anytime you want to hear OUR tapes, just stop in."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Joseph A. Peel to Little Joe

Little Joe had been in jail 12 years. He may stay there another dozen. Or more. This is a lot of time for a swinger. Joseph A. Peel had it all — a beautiful wife, Imogene; an air-conditioned Cadillac, a Continental; a job as municipal judge of Palm Beach; big dark eyes, wavy hair; women who posed nude beside his law diploma; money, a closet full of white linen suits.

He was so considerate that he organized rackets so that no one could be hurt. One was bolita. It's a numbers game played by the blacks of Florida. The digits run from 1 to 100. The suckers play a dime a day, or a quarter. Every afternoon, a hundred plastic balls are placed in a felt bag. Publicly, someone is asked to reach in and pick a ball with a number on it.

That's the winner. Judge Peel visited the bolita operators. From now on, he said, each operator would pay him $50 a week every week. If the police arrested a bolita man, the case would have to come before Judge Peel. He would find the man guilty, fine him $50, pay it out of the money given to him, and set the operator free.

It was a good racket. But everything good can be improved. The judge told the operators to study the daily sheets of numbers played, and determine the one played the least. Let's say it was 17. Peel said that the No. 17 plastic ball should be put in a freezer for two hours.

When the public picking time came, a man would reach into the bag and find the cold one. Everybody made money. Except the suckers.

Some of the shenanigans came to the notice of Chief Circuit Judge C.E. Chillingworth. He was tall, skinny and humorless. He had been on the bench 34 years. He sent word to Judge Peel that he proposed to bring him up on charges and, if found guilty, would see that he lost his job as judge, and lost his license to practice law.

Chillingworth and his wife went to their beach house at Manalapan, just south of Palm Beach. Little Joe became hysterical. He hired two felons — Lucky Holzapfel, white, and Bobby Lincoln, black. They took a small boat to the sand outside the Chillingworth house in the middle of the night.

The idea was for one judge to murder another. But Mrs. Chillingworth, in night robe, answered the door. So Holtzapfel and Lincoln took both down to the boat, shoved off, and headed for the mighty Gulf Stream, 10 miles out. The criminals wrapped heavy chains around husband and wife.

As the humorless Chillingworth slid over the side, he murmered to his wife: "Remember, I love you." The night's work was over before dawn, the boat was back at its mooring. The Gulf Stream moves north at two knots per hour. The bodies would never be found.

That was 1955. State Attorney Phil O'Connell despised Judge Peel, but didn't know why. O'Connell is a righteous man, a family man, a man with respect for authority. Something about Little Joe didn't smell right. It took six years for O'Connell to bag Peel.

The trial was held in the old courthouse in St. Lucie County. Peel was a big-eyed flash of fashion and confidence. O'Connell was a dark squall. Few prosecutors will try a case with no corpus delicti. The State Attorney talked to Holtzapfel, who had nothing ahead but the electric chair, and moved him to a repentant mood. Then he sat with Bobby Lincoln and recited not one, not two, but three black murders in which Bobby had a personal interest.

If Holtzapfel would testify against Judge Peel, and Bobby Lincoln had those sudden deaths expunged from the record, would he corroborate Lucky's testimony? He would. He did. I sat there every day, watching, listening, making notes.

On the day the jury went out, I sat in Peel's cell. "Bet you a buck I get a hung jury," he said. I shook my head. He heard high heels on the outside walk. "That's my wife's walk." It was.

The jury of small-town men with bobbing Adam's apples found Little Joe guilty. He was sent to Florida's Raiford Prison. He is there for life. Holtzapfel waited in Death Row for years. His sentence was commuted to life. Bobby Lincoln took off. No one ever found the bones of Judge and Mrs. Chillingworth.

He was a smart little swinger. The cars and white suits are gone. Where is Imogene? I don't know. The women who once posed nude beside the law diploma are old and fat. The diploma is in a garbage heap . . .

Seek State Legislation

Study Private Pensions

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—State legislators, having explored pensions for government workers in the state for much of the past year, now seem to be turning their attention to retirement plans in the private sector.

Two New York City Democrats have come up with the latest in what has been a general discussion of pension programs for workers in private business.

State Sen. Jeremiah B. Bloom and Assemblyman George A. Cincotta, both from Brooklyn, Saturday night issued a report which they said showed a need for immediate state legislation.

They said they had conducted a probe which revealed "inadequacies of the present state program regulating private pension funds." According to Bloom and Cincotta, their investigation "indicates the need for immediate legislative action."

During furor over pension systems for government employes, which occupied the first seven months of this year, there were passing references to retirement systems for employes in the private sector.

There were charges, mostly from Democratic legislators, that the Republican majority was clamping down on pensions for state and local government workers as a favor to the business community—which was not offering its employes similar pension benefits.

Mostly, however, private plans were largely ignored as Governor Rockefeller and the GOP majority eventually hammered out a new plan for state employes which, although not entirely acceptable to the business community, did meet some of the private sectors most vociferous objections.

In their report, Bloom and Cincotta said that less than 20 per cent—274 out of 1,378—of the private pension funds operating within the state were registered with the state.

"What is worse," they said, "is that these 274 funds now required to be registered represent but 10 per cent of the total assets handled by the pension funds within the state—$5.5 billion of an estimated $53.6 billion."

The legislators will hold a public hearing on private pensions Thursday at the State Office Building in Manhattan.

Among the weaknesses they noted were:

—No specific jurisdiction is granted concerning the benefits structure or the funding requirements of the private pension funds.

—The state's authority is limited to the registration of funds which are administered by two sources such as a company and a union — rather than to the more numerous funds administered by a single source-such as a union or a company.

—The law could permit present pensioners to be misled because it requires only that information about private pension funds be made available to active participants.

Cincotta and Bloom said they would like to see the state's authority over private pension funds broadened to provide for better regulation and supervision.

Sextuplets Born To Colorado Woman

DENVER (UPI) — A hospital official said today an accountant's wife gave premature birth to sextuplets. The four boys and two girls were all in satisfactory condition, doctors said.

The mother had been taking a fertility drug.

"All of the infants are breathing on their own," said Barbara Springer, spokeswoman for the University of Colorado Medical Center. "They were approximately seven weeks premature."

The children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stanek, of suburban Lakewood, Colo. All but the first child were born by Caesarean section.

Mrs. Springer said the mother, Edna Stanek, had expected "a multiple birth but no one anticipated sextuplets. She had been taking a fertility drug. Multiple births often occur in such cases."

Mrs. Stanek was reported in satisfactory condition.

Mrs. Springer said that the first child, a boy, was born at 10:45 p.m. MDT Sunday. The remaining five children were born within four minutes, starting at 11:34 p.m.

She said the sextuplets' weight varied from under two pounds to slightly under three pounds.

"There were approximately 30 people involved in the delivery," said Mrs. Springer. "The Staneks have one other child, a 4-year-old boy."

More Federal Aid This Year For Schools

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's better-financed, big city and suburban school districts, will get more federal aid this year to educate needy children, while poorer, rural school systems will get less than last year because of new census data, the U. S. Office of Education has disclosed.

Some rural school systems have had to make drastic reductions in their staffs for this fall. Many had made their plans last spring when the new census information was not widely available and the level of federal aid for this school year was undetermined.

Casey County, Kentucky, for example, had to dismiss physical education teachers, an art teacher, librarians and teacher aides because 1970 cnsus data made available by the Office of Education in July reduced its federal aid for needy children by $122,000.

Allocations under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, the largest federal aid package for schools, previously had been made on the basis of 1960 census data. But Congress ordered a change to 1970 data when it became available, in order to reflect population shifts during the 1960s.

As a result, big shifts in aid levels are occurring within states, although states generally are receiving about what they received last year, a combined total of $1.4 billion compared with $1.3 billion.

Son Charged in Death Of Binghamton IBM Man

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (UPI)— The son of a prominent area executive was being held without bail today in the Broome County jail after being charged in the fatal stabbing of his father.

Police said Norman Madsen Sr., an IBM World Trade manager, was stabbed to death in his home in suburban Vestal Saturday. Madsen's only son, Norman Jr., 20, was charged with first degree manslaughter. A hearing was scheduled for Tuesday.

Police said Madsen and his son had apparently argued during the night and officers went to the $40,000 home in an upper-middle-class neighborhood on the complaint of nearby residents.

Madsen was found lying in a pool of blood, police said, and had apparently been stabbed four times in the back and arm. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Ideal Hospital in nearby Endicott.

Four area police agencies searched a wooded area behind the home before arresting the youth, who was finally talked into surrendering.

Madsen, who had been an IBM employe for 21 years, was engineering manager of the firm's Endicott laboratories.

He lived at 405 Jones Road.

Price of Bagels Is Going Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The price ofbagels is going up.

This single economic fact of eating has been brought to the attention of the House by Rep. Bertram Podell, D-N.Y. He said the price jump has hit hard his bagel-loving constituents in New York City.

"The most recent casualty of Phase 4 is a consumer item that is very popular in my district — the bagel," Podell told the House. A bagel is a glazed, hard doughnut-shaped roll made of flour and water. It can be eaten by itselfor, as often is the case, with cream cheese and smoked salmon or lox.

"For the past few years, the price of bagels had stabilized at eight to ten cents," he said.

"Then Mr. Nixon arranged for the saleof one-quarter of America's wheat harvest to the Soviet Union, giving inside information to a few speculators who were thus able to make a fortune on the deal.

"Finally, and incredibly, the President removed all price controls on wheat. The result was a substantial increase in the cost of flour. As a result, my constituents are now paying 12 to 15 cents for a bagel, an increase of between 20 to 50 per cent," Podell said.

Podell said that despite the increase in price, labor costs and bakers' profits have not risen.

"The blame lies squarely with President Nixon and Secretary of Agriculture (Earl) Butz," Podell said.

"The noted economist John Kenneth Galbraith recently remarked that having these men administer price controls is analogous to putting the Paulist Fathers in charge of a birth control clinic," Podell added.

Podell said a complete redirection of nationalpriorities is needed. "Much more is at stake than merely the price of bagels. The President's electoral mandate gave him the responsibility to represent the interests of all the people, not just the wealthy few. "It is time for Mr. Nixon to wake up to the realities of the consumers' nightmare, and by his actions to justify the faith placed in him by so many Americans," Podell said.

ELUSIVE RON — New York Giants' running back Ron Johnson (30) eludes Houston Oilers' linebacker Paul Guidry as he rushes for yardage during Sunday's game at Yankee Stadium. Johhnson picked up 95 yards in 22 carries before leaving the 34-14 Giant victory with bruised ribs. (UPI)

BOYS AT THE BAR — Patrons in a Bronx bar watch the New York Giants dump the Houston Oilers Oilers, 34-14, during the NFL's televised season opener in New York City, Sunday. Sold out NFL games were televised by law for the first time in cities where they were being played, and enough ticket buyers stayed home to nearly fill most of the NFL stadiums. It marked the first time in the memory of most that they could watch the home team's travels at home on their own TV screen . . . or at the corner bar. (UPI)

Giants Picked Right Places

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "We were just in the right place at the right time—just about the whole game," Carl Lockhart said . . . and Dan Pastorini probably couldn't have agreed more.

Almost every time Pastorini put the ball in the air Sunday, it came down in the hands of Lockhart or one of his teammates. The problem was, Pastorini plays for the Houston Oil ers and Lockhart plays for the New York Giants.

In the first half, for example, the Houston quarterback threw the ball 11 times. Three times the Oilers caught it. Four times the Giants did. As a result, Pastorini had a passing yardage in those first two periods of minus one.

That was the primary reason why, after 30 minutes, the Giants had controlled the ball for more than 22 of them and had easily opened up a 27-0 lead in the teams' National Football League opener at Yankee Stadium.

Pete Gogolak's field goals of 44 and 11 yards, Norm Snead's 14-yard touchdown pass to Don Herrmann and a pair of one-yard scoring dives by Ron Johnson did the damage that Houston couldn't overcome.

In the third period, Pastorini turned the rout into a game, hitting on two touchdown passes—a seven-yard, fourth-down bullet to Dave Parks and a 49-yard bomb to a wide-open Ken Burrough.

But the Giants stiffened in the final quarter and, as the clock ticked off the final minutes, Snead patiently led New York back downfield for its final touchdown, a one-yard plunge by reserve running back Joe Orduna with just four seconds remaining.

"No question, I was definitely going for that final score," Snead said. "I wasn't thinking at all about just running down the clock. I wanted that score. They'd taken away the tempo of the game and I wanted it back."

Pastorini wished he'd had those four errant passes back. Three of them, picked off by Pete Athas, Lockhart and Henry Reed, set up New York scores. The other, by Richmond Flowers, killed Houston's only decent chance to put some first half points on the scoreboard, coming deep in Giants' territory on the final play of the half.

"I didn't help much with those four interceptions and I'll take the blame," Pastorini said. "We got out of the game plan too soon, got away from our running game and had to put the ball up in the air too much."

Johnson rushed for 96 yards for New York, equalling the entire Houston ground game, even though he sat out much of the fourth quarter with bruised ribs, and Vin Clements added 90 yards on the ground for the Giants.

So it's nice the Giants have such "non-contenders" to contend with in the opening weeks. Next Sunday, they host Philadelphia, which lost 34-23 to St. Louis Sunday.

"Listen," New York Coach Alex Webster said, barely suppressing the hint of a grin, "we're taking the Eagles very seriously." The last time the teams met, the Giants won 62-10.

Simpson Got His Yardage When It Really Counted

BY JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer

It took O.J. Simpson just a couple of hours to prove that pre-season results mean nothing.

Simpson gained only 242 yards in pre-season action as the Buffalo Bills dropped all six of their exhibition games. But Sunday, when it counted, Simpson opened the National Football League season with an awesome record-setting 250-yard rushing performance as the Bills overran the New England Patriots 31-13.

Simpson carried 29 times, scored twice on runs of 80 and 22 yards and left Patriot defenders strewn across the field all afternoon.

"It was like Grant going through Richmond," said a disappointed Chuck Fairbanks, making his NFL coaching debut with the Patriots. "We were just helpless. We couldn't slow him down."

"Funny thing, I was supposed to be a decoy today," Simpson laughed after breaking the record of 247 yards set two years ago by Los Angeles' Willie Ellison. "But our offensive line did such a great job opening holes that I ran.

"The Patriots apparently knew that Oakland was successful the previous week shutting off the outside so they tried the same thing. We just turned all our plays up (cut them to the inside) and we had great holes. I can't say enough about the offensive line."

Simpson wasn't the only Bills runner the Patriots couldn't stop. Larry Watkins, a recent waiver pickup, ripped off 105 yards in 18 carries and scored twice on runs of 10 and 15 yards. Sam Cunningham ran seven yards and Mack Herron 10 for the only New England scores.

"He had more yardage today than Secretariat," said Edgar Chandler, the Patriots' linebacker who was Simpson's teammate for four years. "It was embarrassing."

"I was really tired when they told me I needed 15 more yards," Simpson said. "I went back in and they kept calling my number. I don't think anybody will ever criticize our offensive line again. They were just blowing them out. They said they're going to get me 1,700 yards this season and they played like they meant it."

In other opening day action, Miami overcame San Francisco 21-13, Washington crushed San Diego 38-0, Minnesota beat Oakland 24-16, Pittsburgh whipped Detroit 24-10, Dallas defeated Chicago 20-17, Los Angeles stunned Kansas City 23-13, Denver upended Cincinnati 28-10, the New York Giants trounced Houston 34-14, Cleveland topped Baltimore 24-14, Atlanta embarrassed New Orleans 62-7 and St. Louis downed Philadelphia 34-23. The New York Jets meet Green Bay at Milwaukee tonight.

Miami erupted for 15 points in the final period to beat the 49ers and move to within one victory over the NFL consecutive game winning streak. San Francisco led 13-6 entering the final quarter but Bob Griese threw a 10-yard TD pass to Paul Warfield, Garo Yepremian kiecked 45 and 22-yard field goals, his third and fourth of the game, and the Dolphins scored on a safety to break open the game.

"I can't say how proud I am of this team for the second half performance — and you can start the praise with Garo," said Miami Coach Don Shula. "He kept us in the game early and came through again in the second half. And the defense held them off until we could get our offense untracked."

Washington converted three Mike Garrett fumbles into first period touchdowns and intercepted John Unitas three times to rout the Chargers. Verlon Biggs and Brig Owens scored on fumble recoveries, Larry Brown crashed a yard and Bill Kilmer threw TD passes to Charley Taylor and Frank Grant in the rout.

Fran Tarkenton threw a nine-yard TD pass to rookie Chuck Foreman and Bill Brown ran six yards for another TD in the last quarter as the Vikings rallied to defeat Oakland. Oakland led 16-10 in the third period before Tarkenton, who earlier threw a 43-yard TD pass to John Gilliam, rallied Minnesota. Oakland's George Atkinson had a 63-yard punt return for a score.

Terry Bradshaw threw a 24-yard TD pass to John McMakin to snap a 10-10 tie in the fourth quarter and clinched the game with a six-yard scoring pass to Ron Shanklin as the Steelers beat Detroit. Greg Landry's 84-yard pass to Ron Jessie accounted for the only Lion TD.

John Hadl threw two TD passes and Steve Preece turned a bad snap into another score as Los Angeles upended the Chiefs. Hadl passes two yards to Pat Curran and 31 to Lawrence McCutcheon and Preece ran 11 yards for a score on a botched field goal attempt as the Rams took a 23-0 lead.

Floyd Little had three short TD runs to carry Denver over Cincinnati and Dick Shiner threw three TD passes and the Atlanta intercepted six passes and held off a last quarter rally by Pete Beathard, who threw for two TDs.

Chicago gambled on a fake punt and missed and Dallas turned it into an 11-yard field goal by Toni Fritsch and a victory over the Bears. With the score tied at 17-17, Bob Parson was stopped on his own 23 on a fourth and one fake punt and Fritsch kicked the deciding field goal with 1:26 left.

There Was No TV Blackout . . . And

Results Were Predictable

By IRA MILLER
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Football League began its first season in more than two decades Sunday without a full television blackout of home games and the results were predictable.

A total of 49,551 ticketholders stayed away from nine sold-out games, preferring the comfort of watching at home to the tumult and the crowds despite —in most cases—ideal weather at the stadiums.

One owner, surveying an expanse of empty seats in his sold-out stadium, said he would try to beat the blackout in the future by selling "lousy" seats never before placed on sale and Commissioner Pete Rozelle said the man was probably "within his rights."

"As we have said, this is a process of deterioration," Rozelle said. "The figures will get much worse as the season goes on, the weather gets worse, and the bloom is off the rose as far as the won and lost record is concerned."

The irate owner, Leonard Tose of the hapless Philadelphia Eagles, said his club, which regularly plays to sellouts despite its losing record, never before had tried to sell 500 ground level baseball box seats at Veterans Stadium because the view of the field is blocked by the players on the bench.

"I guarantee you, that unless every one of those seats is sold —everyone one—we will not permit local television coverage," Tose said, noting there were 4,617 other empty, although paid-for seats on a warm, sunny day.

"I don't know how we're going to sell them because the people will know where they are," Tose added. "I personally gave away 100 of those seats to charitable institutions, and even they didn't show up."

The Philadelphia situation was nothing compared to what faced the Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins. There were 11,775 no-shows in the Orange Bowl when the Dolphins beat the San Francisco 49ers 21-13 on a sunny day with temperatures in the 80s.

The Dolphins were one of the teams that didn't even have to lift the blackout because 818 tickets were unsold last Thursday when the 72-hour deadline passed. But after a run on the remaining tickets sold out the game Friday, they decided to televise it locally anyway on a "one-shot" basis.

Considerably more ticketholders stayed away—16,031 to be exact—from the Rams-Chiefs game at Kansas City, where it rained until shortly before kickoff.

In Cleveland, where the Browns played the Baltimore Colts in a game that had not been sold out and therefore wasn't televised locally, officials said the crowd of 74,303 represented almost every ticket sold and said there were virtually no no-shows.

The NFL and Rozelle are opposed to lifting the blackouts on economic grounds having little to do with this year's ticket sales. Rozelle reasons the stay-aways will affect parking and concession revenues, eventually result in reduced season ticket sales and turn pro football into a studio sport.

The blackout had been NFL law since the early 1950's, but that law was rewritten last week when Congress ruled that games televised as part of a national TV contract and sold out 72 hours in advance may not be blacked out locally.

Last January, the blackout was lifted on an experimental basis for the Super Bowl and more than 8,000 ticket holders stayed away in sunny Los Angeles.

There were more than 1,000 no-shows Sunday at each of the nine sold-out games, with Pittsburgh and Washington—where the antiblackout push began in Congress when the Redskins started winning—showing the fewest, 1,437 and 1,662 respectively.

Namath and Jets Test Green Bay's Defense

MILWAUKEE (UPI) —Joe Namath and the New York Jets will test Green Bay's young but gifted pass defense tonight in a nationally-televised National Football League game between former Super Bowl champions.

Namath, who passed for more yardage than any other quarterback in the NFL a year ago, will face the Packers' defense, which in 1972 limited opponents to only seven touchdowns via passing.

Green Bay is a four-point favorite.

Namath gained 592 yards on 33 completions in 57 tries during the pre-season as the Jets, despite the prolonged holdout of running back John Riggins, won four of six games.

The Packers' defense, with an average of only 3.4 years experience, allowed just one touchdown through the air in six pre-season games and allowed opponents to complete only 46 per cent of their passes.

Packers Coach Dan Devine has named Scott Hunter to start at quarterback with most of the offensive load expected to be shouldered by running backs MacArthur Lane and John Brockington.

Lane and Brockington combined for 1,848 yards rushing last year and, despite limited action, each gained more than 250 yards during the pre-season.

Tonight's game also matches the two top kickers in the NFL a year ago. Green Bay's Chester Marcol won the NFC scoring crown with 128 points. New York's Bobby Howfield led the AFC with 121 points.

The game, first ever between the two teams who between them won the first three Super Bowls, drew a sellout of 47,800 long before last week's congressional decision to ban local television blackouts of sold-out NFL games.

Kathay Gets Early Start

LEAWOOD, Kan. (UPI) — For defending champion Kathy Whitworth, the victory after only two rounds of play at the LPGA Southgate Open meant an early start for the next stop on the tour.

For part-time pro and second-place finisher Gerda Boykin, the rain robbed her of a chance to redeem herself from a double bogey on the final hole of the second round and a chance to collect her first win since joining the tour in 1967.

"No victory is easy," Miss Whitworth said. She had moved from the ninth position into the lead with at 142 in the second round. "I play as hard during the early rounds as I do on the final day," she said.

The women did tee off Sunday, but by midmorning a half dozen greens were water-soaked and weather forecasts promised no relief.

Mrs. Boykin said, "I felt I was playing well again. Still, slashing around in the mud, I knew it would be ridiculous to go on. I had my chance and I let it slip away."

Mrs. Boykin had held a two-stroke lead through 32 holes. An eagle three on the 16th hole brought Miss Whitworth dangerously close on the second day. When Mrs. Boykin double-bogeyed the 18th hole Saturday, she slipped to 73 for 143 and one stroke behind Miss Whitworth.

The Other End Of the Whistle

BUFFALO (AP) — There are three new referees in Buffalo-area scholastic football, and their names are Linda, Susan and Elena.

Each has passed the tests and training given by the Ken-Ton Officials Association. And each has begun work as a linesman — lineswomen? — calling infractions such as offsides, clipping and pass interference.

Linda Jaworski, who is taking a year off from college studies, said she wanted to try something new.

Speaking of her first assignment, she said, "It took me until the end of the first half to know what I was doing. That wasn't at all bad, considering it was only the second football game I'd ever seen."

"I'm actually very unathletic," she confided, admitting she felt a bit ill at ease at her referee debut.

"My biggest problem was being the first official at the field," she said. "Everyone seemed afraid of me, but finally someone asked me if I were going to referee.

"I felt like answering, 'Why else would a woman be wearing a black-and-white striped shirt. But I didn't."

More familiar with the pigskin sport are Susan Donlon and Elena Van Valkenburg.

Yogi's New Degree: Master of Strategy

By HOWARD SMITH
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Met Manager Yogi Berra looked like a master of strategy against Chicago Sunday.

First, he ordered defensive replacement Don Hahn to swing away on a hit-and-run for the first time all season. And it worked.

Then he had one of his hottest hitters and slowest runners, Jerry Grote, trying to bunt in the winning run. And he did.

The result was a 4-3 win over the Cubs and a boost for Met title hopes in the close-knit National league East race. New York is fourth, but only 2½ games back of first-place Pittsburgh.

The Mets open a five-game series with the Pirates Monday night in Pittsburgh. Tuesday the teams also play in Pittsburgh and the series then switches to New York for three games.

Sunday's game was knotted at 3-all when John Milner led off the New York eighth with a walk. Cub manager Whitey Lockman yanked starter Burt Hooton and brought in Bob Locker, who promptly fanned Cleon Jones.

Up stepped Hahn, who entered the game as a defensive replacement in the seventh. Hahn glanced at third-base coach Eddie Yost, stepped in to hit, stepped out and glanced at Yost again.

"It was the first time all year I've gotten the hit-and-run sign," explained Hahn, "and I was kinda surprised. I gave him a double look to make sure."

"We did it a couple of times with him during spring training," Berra remembered. "it's a way to stay out of the double play. Besides, he'll work harder up there if he knows he has to get a piece of the ball."

Hahn looped a single into left center, sending Milner to third. That brought up the hot-hitting Grote, who had two singles and a line-drive to center in three at-bats.

Grote got his sign at first glance and laid down a perfect suicide squeeze bunt that scooted between Locker and first baseman Gonzalo Marquez for a hit, scoring Milner.

"Grote is the best bunter on the team. It's as simple as that," revealed Berra. "I knew he'd get a piece of the ball."

After that, Yogi let Tug McGraw retire the Cubs in order for his fourth win against six losses. McGraw has three wins and eight saves in his last 11 outings.

Hooton took the loss, his 14th against 13 wins.

New York picked up two runs off Hooton in the first with the help of a hit-and-run single by Rusty Staub but the Cubs tied it in the second on a long homer by Ron Santo off Met starter Jerry Koosman.

Wayne Garrett doubled home a New York run in the second and Don Kessinger tied it for Chicago with a single in the fourth.

The Mets head into Pittsburgh with high hopes but are avoiding rash predictions.

"We have five biggies now," says McGraw, "but all we can do is play them one by one."

And Berra too, despite his recent successes, is wary.

"I'm not going to predict we'll win five in a ow or four out five. I can't say that," says Yogi. "We'll just play them one at a time."

In other NL action, the Montreal Expos were no-hit for five innings, outhit for nine 5-3 and out-errored 4-3. But they weren't outscored and beat Philadelphia 4-2 and moved to within one-half game of the front-running Pittsburgh Pirates in the tight NL East race, where winning is everything because everyone else seems to be losing.

St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 7-3; Cincinnati squeezed by Atlanta 4-3 in 12 innings; Houston beat Los Angeles 6-2 and San Francisco clubbed San Diego 9-4

Cards 7, Pirates 3

Tommy Agee, traded by the Mets to Houston, and now with the Cardinals, smashed his 10th homer of the season, a 440-foot wallop, that snapped a 3-3 tie and spurred the Cards to a 7-3 victory over the Pirates.

The Cardinals scored three insurance runs in the eighth on a two-run single by Tim McCarver and an RBI double by Lou Brock.

Reds 4, Braves 3

Pinch hitter Larry Stahl grounded a two-out single that scored Denis Menke with the winning run in the Reds' 4-3 triumph over the Braves for Cincinnati's seventh straight victory.

The Braves had tied the game with two-out in the ninth when pinch hitter Hank Aaron doubled, narrowly missing career homer No. 711. Mike Lum's double produced the tie.

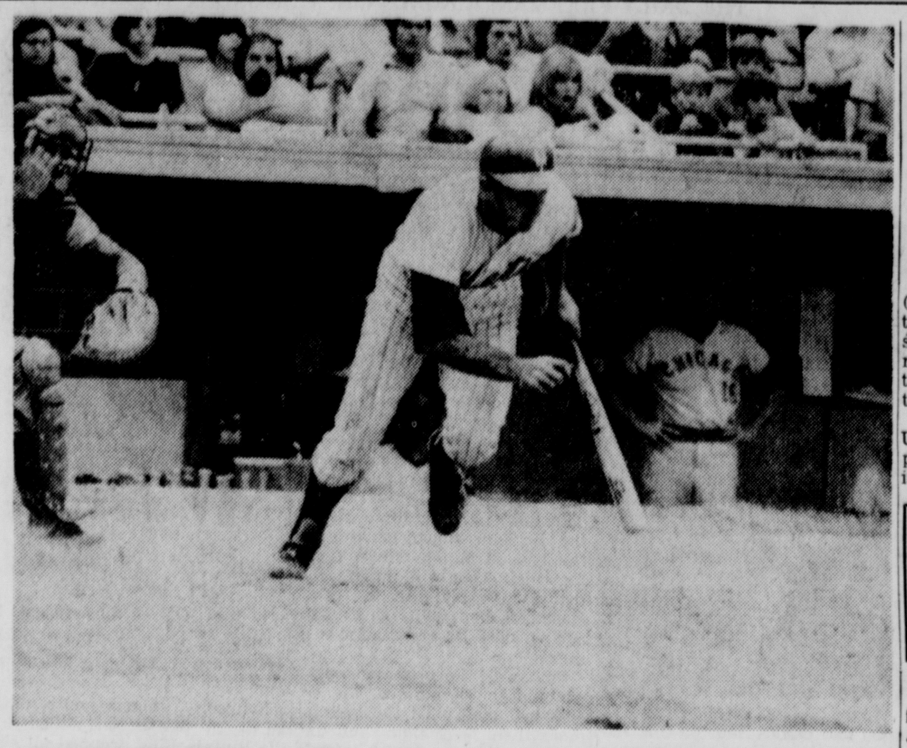

Astros 6, Dodgers 2

The Astros scored all six runs in a 6-2 victory over the Dodgers in the first two innings. Cesar Cedeno, Bob Watson and Skip Jutze each contributed RBI singles in the first.

Don Wilson went the distance, striking out seven.

Giants 9, Padres 4

Dave Kingman hit a pair of two-run homers, helping Ron Bryant post his 22nd victory of the season in the Giants' 9-4 victory over San Diego.

HEADING FOR FIRST — Mets' catcher Jerry Grote heads for first base after laying down a squeeze bunt to bring home John Milner in the eighth inning Sunday at Shea Stadium. Milner's score enabled the Mets to nip the Cubs, 4-3, and move to within 2½ games of first place in the tight National League Eastern Division race. (UPI)

McCluskey USAC Champ

By GARY KALE

Roger McCluskey backed into the USAC driving title and David Pearson caromed off a four-car wreck to inch further ahead in his bid for a second million dollars in stock car racing.

McCluskey finished third in the opening heat of the Michigan 250 at Cambridge Junction Sunday to clinch the national driving championship. Johnny Rutherford won the second 125-miler at Michigan International Speedway after Gary Bettenhausen was credited with the first heat win when Billy Vukovich got the checkered flag first and then was penalized a lap for passing the caution car during yellow flag situation.

Rutherford finished second in the opening heat to take down overall winning honors. Gray-haired Wally Dallenbach's string of three straight USAC victories was broken when he wrecked his STP Eagle on the very first lap.

Pearson raised his earnings to $190,000 for the year as he made a brief pit stop for repairs and zoomed home first in the Delaware 500 with the right fender flapping on his Mercury after an accident that knocked out cars driven by Cale Yarborough, Cecil Gordon and Dick Mays on the 348th lap at Dover Downs.

The victory, by 1.8 seconds over Bobby Allison, was the 10th of the year for millionaire Pearson.

First Walk Ruined Roger Moret's Day

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"I walked the first hitter and that's a bad way to start," said Roger Moret.

The next hitter blasted a home run—and that was worse. It virtually finished the Boston Red Sox' "perfect" pitcher Sunday.

Walt Williams' homer started the Cleveland Indians to a 5-1 decision over Boston that not only spoiled Moret's undefeated record but also didn't do much for the Red Sox' pennant chances.

"I'm not too upset," said Moret, who lost his first game of 1973 after 11 victories. "You have to lose sometime. You're not going to win all the time."

Moret's first loss of the season came at an untimely moment, though. It plunged runnerup Boston seven games behind the front-running Baltimore Orioles in the American League East race.

The Orioles reduced their pennant-clinching "magic number" to seven when they split a doubleheader with the New York Yankees. The Orioles won the first game 3-0 and lost the second 7-5.

In the other American League games, the Milwaukee Brewers beat the Detroit Tigers 5-3; the Minnesota Twins trimmed the Chicago White Sox 6-1; the Oakland A's drubbed the Texas Rangers 9-4, and the Kansas City Royals stopped the Califronia Angels 4-0.

Orioles 3-5, Yankees 0-7

Jim Palmer pitched a two hitter for his 21st victory and Merv Rettenmund cracked a two-run single in Baltimore's first-game 3-0 success over New York. Palmer, who has lost eight games, permitted only singles by Ron Blomberg in the second inning and Thurman Munson in the fourth.

In the second game, Jim Ray Hart drilled a three-run pinch double that capped a five-run fifth inning, giving the Yankees their 7-5 victory in the second game.

Brewers 5, Tigers 3

Charlie Moore drilled three hits—his first in the major leagues — helping Milwaukee beat Detroit 5-3.

Twins 6, White Sox 1

Larry Hisle capped a three-run fifth inning with a two-run homer, lifting Minnesota over Chicago 6-1.

A's 9, Rangers 4

Joe Rudi drove in six runs with a grand slam homer and two-run double, leading Oakland past Texas 9-4. The defending world champions had just one homer in their last 11 games before erupting for three Sunday.

Royals 4, Angels 0

John Mayberry's run-scoring single capped a three-run eighth inning that sparked Paul Splitorff and Kansas City over California 4-0. National League scores: New York 4, Chicago 3; Cincinnati 4, Atlanta 3 in 12 innings; Montreal 4, Philadelphia 2; St. Louis 7, Pittsburgh 3; Houston 6, Los Angeles 2, and San Francisco 9, San Diego 4.

Markle and Walker Valley Champions in Federation

There was a three-way deadlock for second place, but there was no doubt about the winner. Ray Markle, Wawarsing's veteran sharpshooter, ran off a string of 50 straight hits here Sunday at the Walker Valley trap range to win the Ulster County Championship at the annual Federation Field Day.

Art Smith, Stan Gomes and Brian Sawchuck all were next with identical scores of 49 out of 50, and Smith took a shoot-off for the runnerup spot with a run of 25 straight.

The team title went to Walker Valley I which outclassed the field with a 242 out of 250 total. Wally Turner led the victors with a perfect 50, while Tom Grossi and Jim Weed each scored 49, Gomes had 48 and Ed Hacey totaled 46.

The day's other top team was the Ridgerunners which captured the handicap shoot with a 239 score. Dan Hurley hit 50 straight to pace the winers as Frank Abate added 49, Fred Faerber had 48, and Ray Longendyke and Mike Nichols each scored 46.

Class champions were also decided with Walker Valley's Gomes taking the AA title with a score of 49. Paul Worthman of New Paltz was the Class A titleist with a 48, and Sawchuck of Saugerties shot 49 to take the Class B crown.

In Class C, Bob Mance, also of the host club, triumphed with a 46. Wawarsing claimed its second winner in Dave Schoonmaker who took the D championship with a score of 42.

Wally Turner continued his big day with a run of 49 that gave him the Unclassified championship. It also gave him an overall score of 99 out of 100 targets and a tie in that department with Art Smith. In the shootoff, Turner clipped 25 straight to win it all.

In other competitions, Robert Lapp took the junior title, shooting 21 of 25 to lead the field. Ray Markle Jr. won the sub-junior honors with a five-of-10 performance. Also cited was Lil Grossi of Walker Valley who held the highest women's average for the year.

The sportsmen's top non-shooting award went to Stan Gomes. Gomes was proclaimed "Mr. Gun" for his contributions to trap shooting during the past year.

DELAWARE, Ohio (UPI) — Ricci Reenie Time and Melvin's Woe are early favorites for Thursday's Little Brown Jug, the third leg in pacing's triple crown.

Irwin Gains Two Goals

By JOHN PERRY

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (UPI) —Hale Irwin, now with two victories to show for his six-year professional golf career, feels he has reached his two annual goals —winning a tournament and $100,000.

The lanky former Colorado University football star accomplished both Sunday by waltzing off with the $150,000 Heritage Golf Classic for the second time in the tournament's five-year history.

"The $100,000 figure is a very realistic target to shoot for," he said. "It's nice to be there."

His final round of one-over par 72 gave him a 72-hole total of 272 and a five-stroke margin over both Grier Jones and Jerry Heard, who finished with 68 and 70, respectively. The victory was worth $20,000 to Irwin, boosting his season winnings to $102,226.

After opening with a 2-under 69 that put him three strokes off the pace set by Homero Blancas, Irwin gained a three-stroke advantage after two rounds with a second-day 66 and stretched the margin to seven strokes Saturday with a 65.

The tight Harbour Town golf links proved more difficult Sunday, taking Irwin for five bogeys and yielding only four birdies to him despite near-perfect playing conditions.

He said he had trouble getting mentally ready for the round, partly as a result of a poor night's sleep.

"I was hungry, my wife was excited and the baby was hot," said Irwin. "It was a heck of a night."

Fourth place went to big Jim Wiechers, a hulking 215-pounder who closed with a 68-280 over Harbour Town's 6,655-yard layout, a course of narrow fairways and tiny greens just off the Atlantic coast near Savannah, Ga.

South African Gary Player, winner of the previous week's Southern Open, posted a final round of 72 for a 281 total. At 282 were Andy North and Jerry McGee, both with 70s.

Arnold Palmer, who won the first Heritage in 1969, had an even par 284 total after a closing 70 and finished in a tie with Jim Jamieson, young Forrest Fezler and L&M Open champion Bert Greene.

Back in the pack were U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller with a 71-289 and first round leader Blancas, who posted a final round 67 despite a swollen knee for a 291 total.

Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf and Lee Trevino skipped the event to prepare for the Ryder Cup matches this week in Scotland.

Irwin admitted he played it safe, knowing he entered the final round with the biggest 54-hole lead of the 1973 pro golf

"I just never really felt pressed," he said. "It might have been different if I had had to make a birdie or a par."

McKay Unhappy

By GARY KALE

The best is not good enough for Southern California Coach John McKay.

Defending champion and ranked No. 1 in preseason ratings, Southern Cal tried its best to overwhelm unrated Arkansas, but all the Trojans could manage was a 17-0 victory.

Highly publicized Anthony Davis, failing to break loose on his heralded touchdown romps, scored on a one-yard plunge with 45 seconds left in the first half to provide Southern Cal with all the scoring the Trojans needed to wrap up their 13th consecutive victory. A 14-yard TD run by quarterback Pat Haden and 130-pound Chris Limahelu's 23-yard field goal were insurance tallies.

McKay, however, was "very disappointed and displeased" with Saturday's win.

"I don't know or care if we're rated No. 1," McKay fumed. "If you're not ready for the first game of the season after practicing all spring and during the fall, then you must be awfully stupid."

McKay offered that if his players had so much trouble on a cool Saturday night, what will "our big, fat football players do in 95 degree humidity and heat next weekend in Atlanta against Georgia Tech?"

Conversely, No. 3 Ohio State, the team Southern Cal mauled, 42-17, in the Rose Bowl last New Year's Day, ripped Minnesota, 56-7, as 1972 national scoring leader Champ Henson ran for three short yardage touchdowns and tailback Archie Griffin returned a kickoff 93 yards for another touchdown.

Coach Woody Hayes unveiled another scrambling quarterback in sophomore Cornelius Greene, who gained 86 yards in 16 carries.

Coach Bear Bryant's quarterback problem has caused a delightful dilemma at Alabama. Bryant, concerned over the inexperience of quarterbacks Richard Todd and Gary Rutledge, saw them fire two touchdown passes apiece in a 66-0 romp over California. Joe Dale Harris, a third-string sophomore, caught two scoring throws as No. 5 Alabama set a school offense record of 667 yards in the game.

Michigan, ranked sixth, trampled Iowa, 31-7, as the nation's stingiest point yielders held the Hawkeyes in check; No. 7 Penn State kept Stanford to minus eight yards on the ground, while John Cappelletti reeled off a touchdown and gained 76 yards rushing in a 20-6 Nittany Lion victory, and ninth-rated Tennessee edged Duke, 21-17, as quarterback Condredge Holloway ran for a 48-yard score and threw a 27-yard TD pass.

UCAL Openers Provided Revealing Afternoon

By STEVE KANE

KINGSTON

Five shutouts marked Saturday One in the annual UCAL football derby, but the real significance of opening day goes beyond that particular statistic. It was a revealing afternoon

The final results showed Wallkill, Pine Bush, Highland, New Paltz and Ellenville with respective victories over Red Hook, Onteora, Rondout, Marlboro and Liberty. All the winners, and a couple of the losers, managed to look pretty impressive.

Wallkill's 6-0 win over the Raiders was the closest game played, but that's no surprise when two good clubs are matched. Red Hook is certainly a better team than it showed offensively, and the absence of three regular linemen didn't help its cause either. But Red Hook did show the world a solid defensive unit—one that isn't going to let many teams get out of range.

But don't take anything away from Wallkill. The Panthers won the battle convincingly and made it known that they are a force to be reckoned with this season. Tom Berryann, Rich Earl and Felix Feliciano are a talented group of backs, and that Panther line loves to hit.

Wallkill was hungrier. The Panthers played the aggressor most of the afternoon, and that was the biggest element separating the combatants. Count on Wallkill to stay that way, and don't count the Raiders out yet.

It took the Bushmen three games, to score 24 points last year. Is their new offense really as much better as the showing against Onteora would seem to indicate? It probably is. Alvin Gunther is as quick as they come, and Tom Engels got 113 yards through the air. Also consider Bushmen defense to be solid until proven otherwise—John Shaughnessy seldom has problems in that area. In other words, Pine Bush is for real.

Highland is also for real, but there wasn't much doubt about that to start with. One of the things that cheered coach Lem Atkins most was the perfect five-for-five passing of his quarterback, Frank Diodato. That was probably the only area where the Big Blue was suspect.

Rondout, despite the loss, gained a moral victory of sorts. The Ganders expected nothing this season, but they held one of the league's better teams to two touchdowns. They also displayed a fairly competent running game—again against one of the league's better defensive lines. Future opponents should be wary of this RVC team. Green they may be, but Mickey Million's Ganders look strong enough to cause some trouble.

New Paltz may be sticking to basics this year if the Hugies' opening success is any indication. Coach John Ford's defenders stopped the Dukes every time they had to and at the other end of the field the Hugenot ball carriers rammed into the line enough times to score 12 points. It's a tough game to beat, especially if you're trying to catch up,

And what happened to Marlboro? The Dukes just weren't clicking in this one. They did move the ball fairly well, but the big play eluded them. That's unlikely to continue for long if Art Smith has anything to say about it.

Ellenville, on the other hand, had absolutely no trouble making the big play. The Blue Devils didn't have any trouble doing anything. They passed and ran and scored, and just had a grand time pounding the feathers off the Redskins. Mike Hayden's debut at quarterback was spectacular, and the Ellies looked invincible.

Losing coach Woody Witherwax couldn't explain his team's performance "We just weren't playing the ball game," he offered. But there was no ignoring the Ellies. The Blue Devils, indeed, are back, and they might be even better this time.

Kingston Boosters Rated Among Best

KINGSTON

A whole bunch of people from last year will be missing from the lineup Wednesday when Kingston High School opens its 1973 Dutchess County Scholastic League soccer season at home against Spackenkill, but Coach John Hunter is confident his Maroons will have another good year.

"Lack of experience in playing together will hurt us early," Hunter says, but he quickly adds that "we should be up near the top again by the end of the season."

Hunter's Maroons took third in the league last season with a solid 10-4-2 record. Gone from that squad are seven starters, including all-league stars Johnny Robinson, Charlie Barton, and Gerry Murphy, and 11 lettermen all tole.

"The whole center and right side of our team is gone and must be replaced," Hunter remarked.

Kingston does have several key performers returning for another campaign. They include goalie Jack Abernathy, who was unbeaten in five starts; Steve Kantor, the captain whom Hunter calls "an outstanding performer;" Bobby Graves, the team's second leading scorer with nine goals and six assists; Sonny Roncancio, a strong left wing who came along nicely during the second half of last season; John Oberlander, a top lineman; and John Ivankovic, who'll miss the first two games with an injury.

Other returnees are defensemen Jay Werbalowsky, Brian Decker, Eric Greenwald, Tim Matthews, and linemen Scott Anderson, Rich Wood, and Brian White.

Promising newcomers are: Bill Davis, one of the JV's top scorers a year ago; Dave Farrell, who, says Hunter, has "more moves than a belly dancer;" Herb Kantor, who scored 11 goals last year and who Hunter has called "The best prospect we have had in the KHS program;" and Mike Helmich, a fullback capable of all-league rating.

Other new players are goalie Vince DeLuca, defensemen Lloyd Wilson, Jim Matthews, Eric Lippincott, Rich Griggs, Dave Gregory, and Don Short, and linemen Bill Brown and Paul Mitchell.

Hunter sees Arlington as the league's powerhouse, with Spackenkill, Poughkeepsie, and Rhinebeck providing tough challenges.

Secretariat Is Ready To Try Turf Racing

NEW YORK (UPI) —After humbling the nation's best handicap horses with a world record in the $250,000 Marlboro Cup at Belmont Park Saturday, mighty Secretariat was ready today to try something new—racing on turf.

The daring deeds of this brilliant colt already are legendary. He is the first Triple Crown winner in a quarter of a century and made winning the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes look easy.

He holds four tracks records, including the world record of 1:45 2-5 for 1 1-8 miles over a dirt course set in beating stablemate Riva Ridge in the inaugural running of the Marlboro.

Secretariat now is an equine millionaire. The Marlboro winner's purse of $150,000 skyrocketed his earnings to $1,132,089 with $675,685 of it banked this season. That puts the single season record of $817,941, earned by Damascus in 1967, within his grasp before he is retired to stud at the end of the season.

Later in the week, when the turf course dries at Belmont Park and trainer Lucien Laurin returns from a brief vacation in Florida, Secretariat will be tested on the turf for the first time. And Riva Ridge also will get another chance to prove his mettle over a grass course.

The Dynamic Duo finished one-two in the Marlboro and won $205,000 of the $250,000 purse. But they never will run against each other again, Laurin said.

"Why should I race them against each other again? Only one of them can win and there are several big purses for them before they are retired to stud at the end of the year," Laurin said.

"This time it was different. I knew Riva Ridge was dead fit. I would have felt better if Secretariat had another week to get ready. I wanted a fast pace in the race and I knew Riva Ridge would supply it. I didn't know if even Secretariat could catch him. I was tickled silly when he did," Laurin said.

There are four big races Laurin has in mind — the $100,000 Woodward Stakes and the $100,000 Jockey Club Gold Cup on the dirt and the $100,000 Man o' War and $150,000 Washington, D. C., International on the turf.

"I don't know which one will be in the first of them, the Woodward on Sept. 29, but one of them will be in it," Laurin said.

Secretariat's victory in the Marlboro brought a great deal of self-satisfaction to Laurin and jockey Ron Turcotte who has ridden the bronze-skinned son of Bold Ruler in all his races this year.

"They said we always were making excuses for him when he was beaten. This should prove he was sick in the Whitney Stakes and that he can beat older horses," Turcotte said. Secretariat was beaten by Onion in the Whitney. Onion finished fourth in the Marlboro behind Secretariat, Riva Ridge and Cougar 2nd. Annihilate 'Em, Kennedy Road and Key To The Mint completed the field in that order.

The crowd was delighted with Secretariat's victory as was Mrs. Penny Tweedy of the Meadow Stable. They never lost faith in their hero and backed the entry of him and Riva Ridge down to 2 to 5 in the betting.

"The thrill of winning the Belmont Stakes and the Triple Crown was the greatest but it's hard to describe how I felt when Riva Ridge was in front and Secretariat the only one with a chance to pass him," she said.

Rosie Casals Ready for Riggs

ST. LOUIS (UPI) —Her confidence buoyed by Sunday's victory in the $30,000 St. Louis Women's Professional Tennis Tournament, Rosemary Casals said today she's ready for Bobby Riggs.

"I'll play Bobby on roller skates," she told an appreciative audience of fellow women tennis players.

"I'll play Bobby any time and any way he wants to," she added. "There are seven or eight girls on the tour who could beat Riggs in a plain match. He's a hustler and the pressure gets to a player when you have a big buildup."

Miss Casals was seeded second in the St. Louis tournament, but took over the top position when Billie Jean King withdrew because of illness. Mrs. King is scheduled to play Riggs Thursday at Houston.

Demond Named To SU Staff

NEW PALTZ

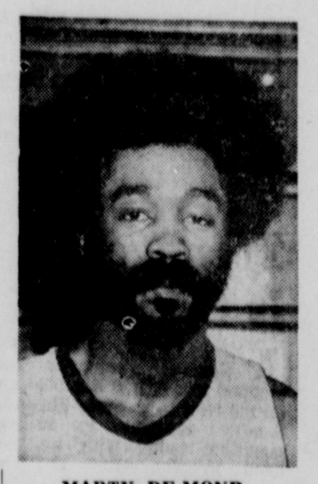

Marty DeMond, who last year played on the varsity, was today named assistant basketball coach at New Paltz State.

DeMond, a member of the English faculty at State U., will assist recently appointed head coach Joe Donovan.

A former athlete at Port Jervis High School, DeMond played football at Union College and basketball at Albany College of Pharmacy before joining the U. S. Army. Upon his discharge, DeMond matriculated at Orange County Community College and then New Paltz.

"We are most fortunate to obtain a fine young coach in Marty DeMond," said Coach Donovan. "As a player he was most knowledgeable in the game. He will do an excellent job with our younger players on the junior varsity squad as well as assist with the varsity team."

The appointment of DeMond was announced by Dr. Eugene T. DeLuca, chairman of the department of Physical Education.

Okker Takes Rainier Win

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Second-seeded Tom Okker of The Netherlands, down 2-4 and losing badly in the second set, regained his concentration and moved away for an easy 7-5, 6-4 victory over John Alexander of Australia to win the singles title Sunday in the $37,500 Rainier International Tennis Tournament.

The win, worth $7,500 for Okker, was his second in the past month. He picked up a victory at Toronto three weeks ago.

The 22-year-old Australian was flat-footed and indecisive in the opening set, which consisted mostly of a trade of services. Okker threatened to break in the eighth game but Alexander fought off three break points. Okker finally won the set when Alexander committed his only doublefault of the match in the 12th game.

Flaming Crash Near Middletown Kills Three

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y. (UPI)— Three persons were killed and two others injured Sunday when their car crashed into a home and burst into flames near this Orange County city.

State police said the victims were trapped in the flaming wreckage. They were identified as the driver, Teofilo Diaz of Newburgh, Lorenzo Ramos of New Hampton and Pedro Garzea of New Hampton.

The car was turning onto "Lower Road" from the Denton Hill Road in the nearby town of Wawayanda, troopers said when it careened into the side of a vacant house, rupturing a natural gas line.

Both the car and home caught fire and were destroyed, police said.

Two of the five occupants of the car managed to escape and were found on the highway next to the burning auto when police arrived.

Both were listed in fair condition at Horton Hospital in Middletown.

Teenager Is Critical

KINGSTON

A Syracuse teenager who stopped to assist a disabled car on the New York State Thruway Sunday remains in critical condition today with massive head injuries after he was struck by a passing auto.

James Case, 17, of 6404 Carson Drive, East Syracuse, was rushed to Kingston Hospital shortly after the 4:30 p.m. accident. The mishap occured about five miles south of Kingston in the northbound lane of the superhighway.

Thruway troopers reported that Case was standing near the rear of the disabled car on the east shoulder of the highway when he was struck by a car driven by Juan Villanueva, 24, of Brooklyn. Villanueva was arrested for speed too fast for conditions, being an unlicensed operator and driving an unregistered motor vehicle. He was released on $25 bail pending a Sept. 28 appearance before Town of Rosendale Justice Albert Morelli.

Four teenage passengers in Villanueva's car suffered slight bruises in the mishap. They were not hospitalized.

A Kingston man, meanwhile, was arrested for driving while intoxicated and driving the wrong way on a one-way street Sunday night following an accident on the Col. Chandler drive in Kingston.

City police said Walter Thiel, 63, of 68 Wiltwyck Avenue, was traveling west in the eastbound lane of Col. Chandler Drive when he collided with a car driven by Patricia A. Rose, 20 of Williams Lane, West Hurley. The woman sustained multiple contusions, and was treated at Kingston Hospital.

24 Charges Filed After City Chase

KINGSTON

For 20 harrowing minutes Sunday morning, a pair of city patrol cars chased a 28-year-old Kingston man and his 1964 Ford from Albany Avenue to Dock Street, and through a dozen streets in between.

When the chase ended, William J. Bradford was presented with 24 vehicle and traffic citations. No one was injured in the ricoshetting high speed chase, but several officers complained later of writer's cramp.

The chase started on Albany Avenue at about 3:03 a.m. Sunday when Bradford, who lives at 202 3rd Avenue, wouldn't stop for police. With officers in close pursuit, the speeding car skidded and careened around corners and curves and through intersections from uptown to downtown.

Bradford finally stopped on Dock Street along the Rondout Creek, jumped out of his car and headed for the water. With police a few feet behind, he apparently had second thoughts about that course of action. He stopped and surrendered.

During the 20 minute chase, according to police, Bradford was involved in two minor accidents. At 3:08 a.m., police said he was heading the wrong way on one-way Hanratty Street when he sideswiped a car driven by Kevin P. McDonough, 18, of Shufelt Street. Seven minutes later, said police, he sideswiped a guardrail on Broadway near Stuyvesant Street. For each incident, Bradford was charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

In addition, Bradford was charged with four separate counts of running a red light, three stop sign violations, reckless driving, a one-way street violation, driving without insurance, driving with improper plates, operating an unregistered motor vehicle and crossing a double line (twice). It's almost anticlimatic to report he was also cited for failure to comply.

Bradford was confined Sunday in the city lockup. He was due to answer the 24 charges today in City Court.

Philharmonic Week Now in Progress

Claude Monteux, musical director of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra, has designated September 16 through 23 as Philharmonic Week. It is a time to complete subscriptions for the coming fall series of concerts that begin in Kingston at the Community Theatre on Monday, Oct. 1 at 8:30 p.m.

Four concerts will be performed during the fall series and four more will follow in the spring. Programs are varied. The fall series includes a performance at the first concert by Jorge Bolet of Liszt's Piano Concerto No. 2. This will be followed by a concert on October 22 featuring the Eglevsky Ballet performing Tchaikovsky's Sleeping Beauty. The third fall concert on Monday, Nov. 12 will be a potpourri of concertos performed by members of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra — Strauss's Horn Concerto No. 1 by J. Richard Webb, Hilhaud's Concerto for Percussion by Nicholas Cerrato, and Debussy's Clarinet Rhapsody by Peter Alexander. The final concert on December 10 till be conducted by Neville Marriner. Middleton - Aldrich Wedding Reported

Mrs. Katharine Delano Ryan Middleton was married September 15, at Christ Church, Red Hook, to John Winthrop Aldrich. The Rt. Rev. Albert A. Chambers, retired Bishop of Springfield, Ill., officiated. He was assisted by the Rev. Orion W. Davis, rector of Christ Church.

The bride was given in marriage by her half-brother, St. George Biddle Duke, and was attended by Mrs. Bronson W. Chanler and by her children, Miss Laura Delano Middleton and Daniel Middleton. The bridegroom's brother, Richard Aldrich, was best man.

A reception was given at Ankony, a farm belonging to the bride's father, situated on the Hudson River in Rhinebeck.

Mrs. Aldrich's father is former State Senator Allan A. Ryan Jr., an independent investor and well-known breeder of Black Angus. Her mother, Mrs. St. George Ryan of Tuxedo Park, is the daughter of the Honorable Katharine St. George, also of Tuxedo Park, who represented New York's 27th District in Congress from 1947 until 1965, and of the late George Baker St. George. Mrs. Ryan was first married to Angier Biddle Duke, who later served as U.S. Ambassador to Spain.

Mrs. Aldrich is a direct descendant of Thomas Fortune Ryan, financier; of George F. Baker, founder of the First National City Bank of New York; and of Warren Delano, a merchant in the American China Trade who was a grandfather of the late U.S. President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Mrs. Aldrich's first marriage terminated in divorce.

Mr. Aldrich is the son of Mrs. Richard Chanler Aldrich of Barrytown and of the late Mr. Aldrich. He is the grandson of Mrs. John W. Cutler of New York City and of the late Mr. Cutler, who was an investment banker. He is a grandson also of the late Richard Aldrich, music critic on the New York Times, and of the late Mrs. Aldrich. He is a direct descendent of John Winthrop, first Governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony; of Petrus Stuyvesant, Director-General of New Netherland; of Robert Livingston, First Lord of the Manor; of Lewis Morris, a signer of the Declaration of Independence; of the original John Jacob Astor, capitalist; and of Hamilton Fish, Governor of New York, U.S. Senator and U.S. Secretary of State from 1869 until 1877.

Mrs. Aldrich attended the Madeira School, Sarah Lawerence College, and the American Dressage Institute at Saratoga. Mr. Aldrich attended St. Paul's School and graduated cum laude from Harvard College in 1965, where he was a member of the Harvard Lampoon and the Porcellian Club. He served for four years in the U.S. Army, rising from private to captain, and was military advisor in the Republic of Vietnam. He is a member of Knickerbocker Club, and is actively engaged in land conservation.

The couple expect to live at Rokeby, the historic farm on the Hudson River at Barrytown, near Red Hook, which has been owned by the bridegroom's family since 1715 and of which he is a co-proprietor. The main house at Rokeby was built by General John Armstrong and his wife, Alida Livingston, in 1815.

Problem's Solved... It's a Girl

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR READERS: On July 23, the following item appeared in my column:

DEAR ABBY: It seems I have a problem. I am 47 years old, and last year I married for the second time and my wife is expecting soon. Since this is the first child I have ever fathered, and probably the last, I want him to have a special name. (No argument, please. I KNOW it will be a boy.)

My surname is "Huffman," so I would like to name our son "Manhuff." My wife's maiden name is Wolfe, therefore I want his middle name to be "Wolfgang," his full name being, "Manhuff Wolfgang Huffman." (His nickname would of course be, "Manny.")

My wife objects strenuously. She says it will be a burden to the boy and people will make fun of him.

What do you think, Abby? If you feel the boy will be handicapped by such a name, please let me know, as I have his best interests at heart.

JACK (OF ALL TRADES)

DEAR JACK: Never mind what I think. Since your wife objects strenuously, forget the "Manhuff Wolfgang," and name him "Jack Jr." (P. S. If he's a "she," you'll have no problem.)

For an interesting follow-up, please read on: This morning, I received this delightful letter:

DEAR ABBY: The dilemma of "Manhuff Wolfgang" has been solved. We are pleased to announce that our baby arrived, three weeks early. After I was assured that both mother and baby would be all right, I realized that nothing else mattered — including the fact that it was a GIRL!

We have decided to name our beautiful, four-pound red-haired daughter "Heather Ann Huffman."

JACK (OF ALL TRADES)

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We just received a beautifully engraved wedding invitation which included (in engraving, mind you!) the name of the store where the bride was registered.

Don't you think the establishment that engraved it is just as much at fault as the bride for not having advised her that this is in the worst possible taste?

FLABBERGASTED

DEAR FLABBER: Don't blame the engraver. He may have advised the bride against it, and she may have insisted on it anyway. Engravers can only make suggestions. In the final analysis (with very few exceptions), the engraver will defer to the wishes of the customer.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TOUCHY SITUATION IN CONNECTICUT": If you are not sure where a friend's child is, but suspect that the question might be embarrassing or painful to the parent — DON'T ASK!

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Portland Faces Gas Crisis as Stations Close

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Most of Oregon's 2,800 gas stations were closed Sunday, many of them in protest of Phase 4 limits on gasoline prices.

Most stations close regularly on Sundays, so the scope of the shut-down will not be known until Monday.

Only three stations opened in Eugene, a city of 80,000, according to a survey by the Automobile Club of Oregon.

Lee Jordan, who operates Gatewa·· International Shell station in Springfield near Eugene with her husband, Glen, said there were at least 10 cars waiting for gas at all times Sunday.

"Someone called us up this morning and asked us if we were going to close for the protest. I said 'no.' and he said, 'Well, that's too bad because your hoses will probably be cut.'" Mrs Jordan said.

Gasoline Dealers Action Committee, which claims 200 members, was formed recently to organize the closures after the Oregon Gasoline Dealers Association refused to endorse such action.

The OGDA, which claims 600 members, is awaiting the outcome of a suit in Washington, D.C., aimed at overturning the Cost of Living Council's price freeze. A hearing on the suit is scheduled Monday.

The Cost of Living Council said on Friday it will allow dealers to charge more for gasoline, but did not say how much more.

PREDICTABLE BANK ROBBER — Nassau County police said Bruce Bush, 27, escorted from court by Highway Patrolman James Bilelle, hit three Nassau County banks in three weeks for a total of $9,200 — using the same method. Police said he would fly to New York City from Miamia, Fla, dressed in cheap clothes, buy a toy gun, steal a small car, rob a bank, buy a new set of clothes, buy rounds of drinks in a Times Square bar, throw $50 bills at topless waitresses and then fly back to Miami to spend the rest of the money. He was arrested when he was caught allegedly breaking into a fourth car at the same supermarket in as many weeks. Police said Bush of Miami was predictable. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Walking Tour On Sept. 20

KINGSTON

The last third-Thursday-in-the-month free Walking Tours through the historic Old Stockade Area of Kingston will take place Thursday, Sept. 20.

The tour starts at 2 p.m. from the Governor Clinton Hotel, across from Academy Green. Each tour group is accompanied by an experienced volunteer guide who explains sites and buildings in the Stockade Area, some of which are now in their fourth century of existence.

Tour guests will be made aware of Kingston's own Bicentennial, marking the 200th anniversary of the founding of the State of New York in Kingston in 1777, and see preparations already in evidence. Four notable 18th century buildings are in various stages of restoration. Each represents significant steps in the preservation of a living history in Kingston.

A special October Walking Tour is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 13 during Kingston's annual Fall Festival celebration, held in the historic Stockade area. Many other commercial, historic and cultural features will be offered during the Fall Festival.

Cholera Search Aimed at Texas Motel Patrons

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Health officials are searching for a dozen or more patrons of a small Texas motel so they can administer cholera tests, the Center for Disease Control said Sunday.

A spokesman, Dr. Jack Weissman, said the center is checking on all persons who registered during the past month at the six-room Burns Court Motel in Port Lavaca, Tex.

Seventy-five per cent of the 52 registrants have been located and tested. All the tests have proved negative thus far, Weissman said.

Last week, the agency headquartered here reported an unidentified 51-year-old Port Lavaca man contracted cholera, the first confirmed case of the intestinal disease in the United States in 50 years.

Cholera organisms were found in a septic tank which served both the motel and the man's residence. After the discovery, the motel was closed.

Oswald: "The suit preference convention is a necessary part of every expert's kit of signals. Invented more or less independently by William McKenney, who wrote this column up to his death in 1949, E. M. Lagron and Hy Lavinthal, it is valuable when used with intelligence."

Jim: "Used with intelligence means that you consider it as a supplementary signal that does not conflict with such normal signals as high for strength; low for weakness; fourth best leads, etc."

Oswald: "Today's hand is taken from a 1936 article by McKenney which shows the convention at its best."

Jim: "West opens the three of clubs. East wins the ace and returns the nine of clubs. West ruffs and if he is alert he reads that nine-spot as a suit preference request for a lead of the higher side suit. He trusts his partner; leads a heart in spite of South's previous heart bid."

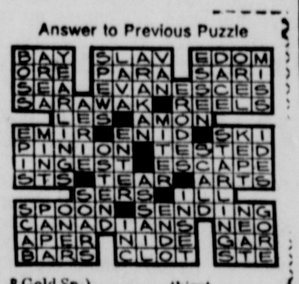

Oswald: "East wins and gives his partner another club ruff. A diamond return would have made it possible for South to draw trumps and wrap up the game and rubber. Of course, three no-trump would make, but the four-spade contract is the normal one."

The Stock Market crash on Oct. 29, 1929, marked the end of post World War I prosperity. During the day 23,506,330 shares changed hands in the major New York exchanges. Billions of dollars in market value were wiped out in the most disastrous trading day in the stock market's history, The World Almanac recalls.

Books are being recorded on microfilm not only to save space but also to preserve them. Many books are deteriorating in American libraries because publishers after 1870 began using paper made from wood pulp instead of from rag, The World Almanac notes. The paper becomes brittle with age because the wood pulp is treated with an acid.

Public Employes Ordered to Work

Curfew Is Lifted in Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — The ruling military junta ordered public employes to return to work today in an attempt to get Chile back to normal six days after the armed forces ousted President Salvador Allende in a bloody coup.

The junta, which ended four decades of democratic rule in Chile last Tuesday, lifted a nationwide curfew for 12 hours to let the government employes get back to work.

The move was aimed at restoring such activies as postal service, bus operations, municipal health clinics and garbage collection.

Army troops, carrying rifles and submachine guns, were still patrolling the capital around the clock, but the general situation appeared to be calm in the nation of 10 million.

Several thousand political prisoners were reported to be interned in Santiago's 70,000-seat national soccer stadium and several thousand others to be held in Chilean naval ships anchored off the port of Valparaiso.

The four-man junta has refused to reveal the number of dead and wounded in the country since the coup took place. Unoffical reports have ranged from 1,000 to several thousand dead.

Housewives packed stores in Santiago today during the early hours stocking up on food and drugs. Military officials said the government was giving top priority to the distribution of food.

Newspaper stands across the capital put little blue, white and red Chilean flags on sale today to mark the country's Sept. 18 Independence Day.

Allende, 65, the Western hemisphere's first freely elected Marxist president, committed suicide in his crumbling La Moneda presidential palace last Tuesday as army troops moved in on him.

His widow, Hortensia, flew to exile in Mexico Sunday and called on the United Nations to intervene in Chile to prevent "reprisals" against followers of her dead husband.

Allende, who came to power in 1970, had three years to serve when ousted after weeks of massive middle class protests that brought the nation's economy to a virtual standstill.

An Interview With Mrs. Allende

MEXICO CITY (AP) — "Salvador sacrificed himself to avoid confrontation and civil war in Chile. He did not want the death of workers, students or leaders," says the widow of Chile's deposed president.

Mrs. Salvador Allende was interviewed Sunday aboard the Mexican government DC9 that brought her and 66 other persons from Santiago in the wake of the military coup last Tuesday.

"In Chile there is much retaliation," she said. "Our hearts are destroyed when we think of those who stayed behind in our country and what may happen to them.

"I call fervently on the United Nations to intervene to avoid civil war. I call on all nations of the world to unite, lift their voices in protest and end the massacre."

Mrs. Allende in a telephone interview with a Mexican televison station Saturday night confirmed the Chilean junta's story that her husband committed suicide rather than surrender after his overthrow.

"His last words to me on the telephone were: 'Stay at home because things have become grave. They are bombarding the palace.'

"He committed suicide with a submachine gun presented to him by Fidel Castro. He told me before that he would never leave the palace as president and preferred to kill himself."

Mrs. Allende was accompanied by one of her daughters, four grandchildren and a sister-in-law, Laura Allende.

President Luis Echeverria of Mexico and his wife greeted Mrs. Allende tearfully as she stepped from the plane in a mustard-colored pants suit with a print blouse.

"Fascism has taken over in our country," Mrs. Allende said at the news conference.

She gave this account of her last hours with her husband last Tuesday:

"Salvador told me the navy had risen in arms. Then he learned that besides the navy, we couldn't count on the army and we didn't have any arms.

"About 11 o'clock, more or less, they started asking him to surrender. The bombings continued at La Moneda and Tomas Moro (the presidential residence). All the offices of the president were destroyed.

"Salvador asked me to leave, saying that it was useless to waste blood and that he was going to stay. When one person with him asked what he would do, he said, 'I am going to stay. Go away. Leave your arms here.'"

A crowd of about 3,000 persons had assembled at the airport terminal to greet the exiles from Chile. Uniformed schoolchildren waving Mexican and Chilean flags lined Mrs. Allende's path as she walked to a waiting bus.

She went to the home of her husband's ambassador t Mexico, Hugo Vigorena Ramirez, who resigned on Saturday.

MRS. ALLENDE TELLS PRESS — Mexican First Lady Mrs. Luis Echeverria looks on as Mrs. Salvador Allende (C) speaks at press conference after her arrival in Mexico City. Mrs. Allende said the United Nations should prevent "reprisals by reactionaries" against her late husband's followers that are still in Chile. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Economy to Dominate Congressional Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economic problems are expected to dominate hearings and floor action in Congress this week.

The House Banking Committee continues its inquiry into soaring interest rates and dwindling supplies of money for mortgages and other loans with testimony today by the heads of two banks which boosted their prime interest rate to a historic high of 10 per cent.

On Wednesday, the House votes on overriding President Nixon's veto of a minimum wage bill he criticized as inflationary and against the best interest of the affected workers. After failing by five votes last week to override the veto of a medical services bill. Democratic leaders have practically written off the chances of saving the less popular minimum wage measure.

A compromise third version of the twice-vetoed vocational rehabilitation bill comes up for a House vote at a time yet to be determined.

The administration has indicated Nixon would sign this version, which has already passed the Senate.

The Senate, meanwhile, begins debate today on a $4 47 billion appropriation measure for the State, Justice and Commerce Departments.

On Tuesday, it is scheduled to take up a major pension reform bill, designed to protect the rights of workers in private pension plans to earn benefits within a reasonable time and to be assured payment even if their plan encounters financial difficulty.

After the pension measure, the Senate takes up a $20-billion defense procurement authorization. Debate is expected over proposals to cut military manpower and reduce U.S. troop levels in Europe, as well as over expensive new weapons.

Henry A. Kissinger apparently is assured confirmation as secretary of state when the Senate votes on his nomination Tuesday.

Chrysler Strike in 3rd Day, Negotiations Continue

DETROIT (AP) — Soaring production losses and prospects of laying off office workers confronted Chrysler today as a strike by 112,000 auto workers moved into its third day.

Intensive negotiations to halt the United Auto Workers' strike continued into this morning. Chrysler Chairman Lynn Townsend reportedly had stayed at company headquarters during most of the bargaining.

Company executives said that, if no settlement was reached today, they would decide whether to lay off an unspecified number of the automaker's 10,500 white-collar workers. Layoffs would hit only those whose jobs are linked with car and truck production.

Chrysler's automotive assembly lines were halted at midnight Friday when thousands of UAW members walked off their jobs.

That meant Chrysler lost 4,600 cars it had expected to assemble Saturday on overtime. Chrysler had planned to build 42,000 cars and 11,000 trucks this week, including Saturday overtime.

The auto maker has told its suppliers in the steel, tire and parts industries to hold all shipments until further notice. No contracts with suppliers have been canceled, a company spokesman said Sunday.

Even so, the Budd Co., a Detroit-based parts supplier, said it is laying off 250 of its 2,500 workers because of the Chrysler strike.

Due to a continuing news blackout, there was no solid evidence Sunday of how far company and union were apart on the issues that triggered the strike.

A union spokesman said Canadian bargainer Charles Brooks of Windsor, Ont., received a rebuke from the union after he broke the blackout Saturday night with a report of progress in the negotiations.

Sources close to the bargaining said the key issues were the union's insistence on voluntary overtime, plant safety and higher pensions with workers allowed to retire on full benefits after 30 years in the plants.

Overabundance of Money Blamed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, a member of the Senate Watergate committee, says "over abundance of money" is the root of campaign wrongdoing and that the Democrats might have been guilty of unethical conduct in 1972 had they been richer.

"I'm certain that if the McGovern campaign had an overabundance of money, some of the overzealous members of that campaign organization might have been involved in activities which would not be quite ethical," Inouye said in a UPI Washington Window interview released Sunday.

Asked why the Watergate affair happened, Inouye's first answer was that "an overabundance of money" made it possible for President Nixon's campaign aides to carry out "grandiose ideas." He said the campaign of Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., "apparently didn't have this type of luxury money."

In related developments:

—Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, Sunday agreed with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., that President Nixon should face impeachment proceedings if he refuses to obey a Supreme Court order to produce his Watergate tapes. To be afraid to use the impeachment process, Hughes said (on ABC's "Issues and Answers") "would be placing in the hands of this president and all future presidents . . . an implied power that they could do anything they wanted in defiance of the law . . ." Kennedy took a similar stand last week.

—Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., said on CBS' "Face the Nation" that such a refusal by the President would result in "the most grave situation that's arisen in maybe a hundred years."

—The Public Broadcasting Service and the National Public Affairs Center for Television said they would provide unabridged television coverage of the next round of Senate Watergate hearings, resuming Sept. 24.

Dem Conduct In Next Phase

GREAT NECK, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. said Sunday he expects the next testimony in the Senate Watergate committee hearings to be about Democratic conduct in last year's presidential election.

But Baker said he did not expect the revelations to match "deed for deed" the revelations about activities of Republicans that have been bared so far. Baker did not outline what the testimony would be when the hearings, now in recess, reopen.

Baker, R-Tenn., and vice chairman of the committee, spoke with newsmen before delivering a speech in this Long Island town.

Baker was also asked if he is thinking of a presidential candidacy and replied: "No." After a pause, he added: "Of course, such talk is fascinating and flattering."

He said that until the Watergate hearings are over, however, he wouldn't think about current talks the he might be come a candidate.

Baker said the Senate committee would also press its current attempts in court to obtain tapes of presidential conversations. He said if the Supreme Court rules the tapes should be released by the White House, he is certain that President Nixon will comply.

In his speech, Baker said that the Watergate hearings have had value. "Watergate is infinitely preferable to no Watergate," he said. "That is as a probing into the operation of the political process."

"This is the prelude to greatness," he said. "America is the only government in the world which would have undertaken such a probing investigation as Watergate."

Protestant Leader Slain

BELFAST (UPI) — Gunmen killed militant Protestant leader Tommy Herron Sunday in what political sources said could be the most explosive slaying in four years of Northern Ireland violence.

Police blamed a Protestant splinter group for the slaying of the 36-year-old former deputy leader of the Ulster Defense Association (UDA) and said the murder could touch off open warfare between feuding Protestant groups.

"It seems likely the killers were known and trusted by Herron," one detective said. "This gives weight to the theory that he was shot by Protestants."

UDA spokesman Sammy Doyle, however, said "it is almost certain it was not the work of any other Protestant organization."

Police said the gunmen shot Herron in the head and dumped his body in a roadside ditch near suburban Lisburn. Two youths found the body Sunday afternoon.

Detectives said Herron, who disappeared Friday after attending a UDA meeting in Belfast, was apparently killed without a struggle. They said his Italian pistol was still in a holster under his coat.

Some sources within the Protestant militant movement said he was probably slain by the extremist Ulster Volunteer Force (UVF), which was feuding with the more moderate UDA over conflicting policies.

Political sources said Herron's killing could spark an assassination vendetta among militant Protestant groups in the province.

Breathe deep, honey.

(We'll clean the air you breathe.)

During the next 24 hours, she'll breathe about 16,000 quarts of air. Her nose and lungs will filter out the dirt and pollen.

Or... you can let a Honeywell Electronic Air Cleaner sniff up most of that stuff before she does.

The Honeywell clean air machine fits right in the ductwork of your air conditioning system. It traps up to 99% of all the pollen... and up to 95% of all the smoke, dust, dirt and other airborne particles passing through it.

So when you cool the air in your home, be sure to clean it, too. And really air condition it!... with the Honeywell Electronic Air Cleaner.

She'll breathe cleaner. So will you. Your air conditioner will work more efficiently. And your house will stay cleaner longer... with the Honeywell clean air machine.

The Honeywell clean air machine.

It fits right in the ductwork. And you enjoy the clean air benefits all year round!... during the heating, cooling and in-between seasons.
